Cowardly Attacks Men from Scrap Iron Little Girls' Dolls Germany Does Things

—By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

RECENT ATTACKS on Herbert Hoover, insincere and cowardly, reflect the characters that make them.

Herbert Hoover advocates developing for the benefit of the country the sources of power, irrigation and water supply in the Colorado River. This does not please those that wish to monopolize power resources in the United States.

The people, fortunately, are not foolish, and will not be deceived by attacks inspired by power company interests and others seeking to monopolize public resources.

Instead of hurting Secretary Hoover they help politically.

As regards religion, Herbert Hoover was born and is a Quaker. His wife was born and is a Presbyterian. But it is a disgrace that anybody should seek to make religion play any part in politics.

Henry Ford told this writer day before yesterday that one of the best financial investments he ever made was buying old ships from the government, now cut to pieces and piled up in mountains of scrap iron.

There was little if any financial profit in the purchase, "but I got two or three good men out of it. The difficulties of the job developed them, and they are worth more than all the ships cost me."

Men working for Ford in important positions are sure to lose their jobs for one mistake and that is the mistake of keeping other men down, not giving them a chance.

"You can't keep a good man down permanently," Ford says, but he doesn't want them held back.

Bolshevism decides that little girls must not play with dolls, because that encourages the bourgeois in the capitalist idea of family life, developing a taste for motherhood and household duties.

Bolshevism interprets the little girl with a doll correctly, but will no more overcome the love of dolls than it could overcome the instinct of self preservation. Maternity is planted in the hearts of little girls by a Power far above Bolshevism just as ambition of another kind is planted in the hearts of little boys. And that ambition is what makes communism an impossibility.

Germans get things done. Several years ago this writer talked to Judge Gary, head of 'Big Steel, and to his subordinates, urging construction of houses made of steel, which could be standardized, erected cheaply

Jazz 'Hogs' Radio; May Be Banned

Washington, Feb. 2 (A.P.)—Complaining of the extent of "jazz" programs offered over the radio, Senator Smith, South Carolina, declared he was tempted to offer an amendment to the pending radio measure to bar "jazz" over the air.

"No matter where you turn the dial," Senator Smith said "you get this nauseating, putrid, ... stuff, varied only by go-ocko-loud announcement about a spark plug."

Replying to criticism of the commission, W. H. Caldwell of New York, one of the three commissioners whose appointments are pending, told the committee the commission's goal "is to deliver to every home in America clear and satisfactory radio programs."

Replying to a suggestion by Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, coauthor of the present radio act, that the power of stations hooked up in chain broadcasting be diminished, Mr. Caldwell said the commission was about to take up this question.

ARREST TWO WOMEN IN PLOT AGAINST LIFE OF NEW OFFICIAL IN ERIN

Dublin, Feb. 2 (A.P.)—Two women, whose names were not divulged, are held for trial charged with incitement to murder the Governor-General of the Irish Free State.

The charges deals with distributing documents asking "who were the invincibles?" which are regarded by the authorities as instigating a plot against ... McNeill, Governor-General, sworn in yesterday.

The London newspapers on Monday said that the Dublin police had discovered a plot to assassinate Mr. McNeill, who was to succeed Tim Healy as governor-general of the Irish Free State. The report today did not imply any connection to Mr. McNeill personally, but was supposed to have been instigated by Extremists who sought to remove a conspicuous foe with Dr. Cosgrave's eighty in the person of the new governor-general.

The leaflet inscribed "who were the invincible?" answered the question ... in as "the men of 1882 who struck a blow for Ireland by executing two of Ireland's chief officials on the way his Britannic Majesty's representative took office in the viceregal lodge at Phoenix Park.

The Phoenix Park case mentioned referred to the assassination of Frederick Charles Cavendish, lord lieutenant of Ireland, and Thomas Henry Burke on May 6, 1882.

No confirmation of the alleged plot was given by the Dublin authorities, but Mr. McNeill was under guard during his journey from England to Dublin and was escorted by a troop of cavalry yesterday when he went to Leinster House to take the oath of office.

There were no untoward incidents.

HICKMAN'S CRIME TOLD IN COURT

Los Angeles, Feb. 2 (A.P.).—The ruddy face of Superior Court Judge J. J. Trabucco paled today when Chief of Detectives Herman Cline related on the witness stand at the sanity hearing of William Edward Hickman details of Hickman's confession of the abduction, slaying and mutilation of little Marian Parker, Los Angeles school girl.

One woman juror, during Cline's recital, paled, gulped and swallowed visibly.

Cline was questioned briefly by Jerome Walsh, defense attorney. He testified he was in charge of the detectives on the train which returned Hickman from Pendleton, Oregon, to Los Angeles.

District Attorney Asa Keyes questioned Cline for the State. The witness said the prisoner's confession was not drawn by threats, violence, offers of reward or immunity from punishment but was given voluntarily. Cline then went into the detailed quotation of Hickman's con-

GOODWIN FOR GAS TAX; 600 ATTEND HEARING

A difference of opinion between Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin and his superior, Commissioner of Public Works William F. Williams, together with criticism of Goodwin by Williams for quoting the Governor, today featured the legislative hearing by proposed gasoline taxes.

A crowd of 600 persons, one of the largest to attend a legislative hearing, appeared at the State House, necessitating the transfer from Room 360 to the Augustus P. Gardner Auditorium in the basement.

Representative Joseph Martin of Marblehead was the first speaker, advocating his own bill for a four cent tax on gasoline, three cents to go to the State and one to the city or town, with a $1 flat registration fee.

Representative Martin said the Governor has pointed out that the Public Works Department needs $15,000,000 a year. Under his plan Representative Martin said it would receive $1,800,000 from $1 registration, $1 driver examination and $1 re-examination fees, while the gasoline consumption of 728,395 cars would provide the balance.

THIEVES GET GEMS AND CASH IN 5 HUB BREAKS

Apartment thieves were busy again during the last 24 hours, according to reports reaching police headquarters today from various sections of the city.

Miss Rose Rhodes of No. 508 West Park street, Dorchester, reported the loss of a $750 diamond ring with a large stone in basket setting, surrounded by 16 smaller ones. It was taken from a desk drawer, she said.

In Brighton, the apartment of John H. Hardenberg of Commonwealth avenue was entered and two suits, two overcoats, two cameo rings, a cameo pin, silverware and a bag, all valued at $220, were missed.

A gray carucal coat, trimmed with gray box fur, disappeared from the apartment of Miss Florence Lewis, Cabot street, Roxbury, she reported. She valued it at $250.

At the home of Mrs. F. Michaelson, Ruthven street, Jamaica Plain, a break accounted for the loss of a fur scarf valued at $200.

Everett M. Mutlow of Dudley street, Roxbury, reported his room entered and the disappearance of two blue suits, an overcoat, an topcoat, a pair of shoes and two scarves.

SAYS AL: 'MAC DOESN'T KNOW HIS CONSTITUTION'

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 2 (I.N.S.)—"The gentleman doesn't know his Constitution."

This was Governor Al Smith's reply today to an attack made on him in Richmond, Va., last night by William Gibbs McAdoo, in which McAdoo denied the Governor's contention that the Volstead law is really a part of the laws of New York State.

McAdoo charged that the position taken by Governor Smith, in declaring there is no reason why States should have prohibition enforcement laws because the Volstead act is a part of the States' laws "is entirely misleading and has no jurisdiction in law."

The Governor's terse reply to McAdoo today virtually marks the first time these two men have come to grips since they deadlocked in the historic 1924 Democratic national

NEWTON MAN ENDS LIFE IN 7-STORY HOTEL LEAP

Harold H. Kirkpatrick, 39, of Converse street, Newton, sales manager of the American Dry Goods Association, leaped to his death from a window on the seventh floor suite in the Hotel Vanderbilt, New York City, today, according to dispatches from that city.

A note found in the apartment read:

"Forgive me, everybody. This is the best way."

Jack Carroll, a salesman for the association, who had occupied the suite for ten days with Kirkpatrick, said the latter had been wounded in the head during the war and until two days ago had been under the care of a physician following a nervous breakdown.

Carroll said Kirkpatrick often complained of severe headaches, but never indicated any intention of taking his own life.

The police said that only 18 cents for the wear and tear on the highways.

SOME RELEAF NEEDED.

"I believe the weight and speed of the machine should be taken into consideration as well as mileage," he added. "A gasoline tax does not entirely compensate for wear and tear."

He said the cities and towns need some relief, but his organization believes a special fund should be created, to be known as the "City and Town Gasoline Fund," by the payment of one cent from each gallon taxed.

"This fund," Mr. Harriman said, "should be expended under the guidance of the State Highway Department and not by the city or town direct. Take Worcester, for instance. Main street is used by nearly all through traffic from Boston to New York. Such a fund could be used to construct a bypass for that through traffic.

"We recommend that the actual work be done by the cities and towns but that the disbursement of the fund be under the direction of the State Highway Department. If one cent on each gallon of gasoline sold was turned over for such a fund Boston would obtain about $600,000 for the building of highways and the metropolitan district would get over a million dollars for the same purpose."

OUTSIDERS SHOULD PAY.

Registrar Goodwin said he had been advocating a gasoline tax for years, but the only question seems to be what kind of a tax to adopt.

"We should get some revenue out of non-residents for the use of our highways," he said. "There is no good reason why they shouldn't pay. I agree with Representative Martin Brett there should be a flat rate on registration.

"On the heavy concrete roads being built today I doubt if a heavy truck wears more than a lighter car. There is so much uncertainty as to whether the weight and speed of cars create more wear and tear, that I do not believe in a graduated scale for registrations.

"If we have a flat rate of $4 for registration and a two-cent gas tax we can get approximately the same amount of revenue as at present. If a flat rate of $1 registration fee is charged and three cents a gallon on gas there will be from $705,000 to $1,000,000 more revenue than at present. Last year there were 850,000 cars registered in Massachusetts.

"I have always felt that some part of such tax should be paid back to the cities and towns, but let's be practical about this thing.

"His Excellency, the Governor, says he'll veto it if any part of the tax is to be paid back to cities and towns, so I think your committee ought to report a bill calling for a $4 registration and two cents a gallon, or $1 registration and three cents a gallon, without any provision for payment to towns and cities."

Commissioner Williams took issue with Registrar Goodwin on the flat rate, and also took him to task for quoting the Governor.

"I am not going to quote the Governor," said Williams. "I think it is overstepping for State officials to quote the Governor as to what he is going to do with his veto power." Registrar Goodwin smiled at the rebuke.

APPROVES GOVERNOR.

"What the Governor said," continued Commissioner Williams, "was 'I am opposed to a gasoline tax of over 2 cents a gallon.' I am opposed to the diversion of any of these funds from the extension, upkeep and policing of the State highways. The amount now raised for road construction and maintenance is sufficient. The combination of the 2-cent tax and registration fees fairly assessed according to the weight and power of the vehicle registered would yield as much or more revenue. Less would not be acceptable and more is not needed.'

"I approve of what the Governor said. Only two States in the Union, New York and Massachusetts, have withstood the temptation to put a gas tax into effect. Of the 46 States that have put a gas tax into effect all have retained the graduated registration feature.

"Anything less than a three-cent tax would be in favor of large trucks, which now pay $140 registration fee. Under a three cent tax they would pay about $150."

Others who spoke in favor of a gas tax were Charles E. Lee, representing all real estate boards; William H. Dolbin, Boston Real Estate Exchange, and Coleman Silver.

were found in the pocket of the dead man, although he is said to have had considerable money in the past.

He is survived by a widow and two children in Newton.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick was prostrated when she received word of her husband's death, but insisted it was an accident. Friends of the family stated that up to the first of the year Kirkpatrick had been merchandise manager for a Boston department store and had resided in Newton for some time. Letters which he wrote to his wife failed to indicate despondency, it was stated.

Shortly before his resignation from the Portland firm he was found with a bullet wound in the head and a revolver by his side. At the time Kirkpatrick was said to have accidentally shot himself while cleaning the weapon. The wound was not serious, but the scar remained. This scar is said to have led Carroll, his roommate, to declare that Kirkpatrick had been wounded in the World War. Portland friends of the dead man say they never knew of any war service on his part.

In addition to his wife and children, Kirkpatrick is survived by his mother, Mrs. W. H. Shurtleff of Portland, now in Florida, and by a brother, Donald A. Kirkpatrick of Boston.

New York, Feb. 2 (A.P.).—President Cosgrave while professing unfamiliarity with American customs took a chance today and won a half holiday for the children of St. Simon Steele's school.

After attending mass in the church, he spoke to the child ren in the auditorium. He concluded by explaining that such an occasion in Ireland, although he didn't know about the United States, would be observed by granting the children a half holiday, so "I'll ask the nuns to be so good as to let you go home."

His request was granted and the children thanked their visitor viva voce.

Rand, a defendant in the present case, is now under two years' sentence in Providence.

For "picketing" schooners on Rum Row and standing by when they were unloaded, the witness testified he had received sums totalling in excess of $4,000.

Of that amount, he declared, $1,000 was paid him by John Murray of Chelsea, another defendant, formerly connected with engineering works in East Boston, where Base 8 later had its headquarters.

Ownership of two schooners on Rum Row was admitted to him by Magnus, the witness further stated, he said that statement was made to him while on a visit to Magnus at his grange on Aberdeen street in the Summer of 1926.

GIRL IS FREED IN HOSPITAL THEFT CASE

Despite the testimony of Dr. Henry M. Pollock, superintendent of the Homeopathic Hospital, Mary S. Macomber of Elcho street, Brighton, former bookkeeper at the institution, was today found not guilty of the larceny of $3500 of hospital funds, by a Superior Court jury.

Miss Macomber, who has been in Charles street jail since last September, being unable to procure bonds, acted as her own counsel, stating she could not afford to hire a lawyer.

Dr. Pollock testified that after it was found that the hospital accounts were wrong, he talked with Miss Macomber and she admitted she had taken money to pay her debts.

Miss Macomber denied the statements of Dr. Pollock. She said the accounts of the hospital were in a jumbled condition and if they were straightened out it would be found that there were no larcenies.

HUB POLICE AND TAXICAB CASE UP TO HIGH COURT

Washington, Feb. 1 (A.P.).—Police Commissioner Wilson of Boston today filed in the Supreme Court a brief contending that the suit against him by the Independent Taxi Operators' Association should not be reviewed. Answering complaint that his order prohibiting them from occupying certain taxicab stands was discrimination in favor of the Checker and Town taxi companies, Wilson asserted he had acted clearly within his powers and infringed no constitutional right of the independent operators.

Commissioner Wilson filed a demurrer last May, after six independent operators sought an injunction against revocation of their licenses through defiance of orders of the commissioner to take stands assigned by him. The demurrer was overruled by Judge H. T. Lummus and went to the Supreme Court.

TEACHERS TESTIFY.

Cane and Chief of Police James E. Lavin both were absent when called at the outset, and in the meantime Mabel Britton, young teacher at the school from which Marian was abducted, took the stand to identify Hickman as the abductor.

Miss Britton testified that Hickman applied to her for the position at the Mount Vernon School on December 13, and that he maintained contact with her through notes sent by means of Marian.

Mrs. Marion Holt, supervising teacher at Marian's school, testified to releasing the girl to Hickman, who described him as being well groomed at the time, calm and quiet spoken, giving her "not the least" cause for suspicion.

After Cane had completed quoting the crime confession and the additional so-called "motive" confession, Hayes questioned him exhaustively concerning the alleged "case" film thrown in by Hickman at the Pentucon jail when the officers arrived there. Cane described the "fix," relating Hickman's "efforts to appear wild" and his shouting "Marian, Marian, I love you."

The detective chief testified that Hickman asked him later on the train if he did not think he "threw a good one" and that he replied "you did not fool us."

Wesley Hunt, accused with Hickman of murdering C. Ivy Thomes in a drug store holdup a year ago, testified for the defence that he had known the defendant fourteen months, during which time Hickman had expressed to him a wish to "cut up some one and strew the pieces around."

SMITH REPLIES TO M'ADOO ON 'WET' NUDGE

convention over the presidential nomination.

"Did you see what Mr. McAdoo said last night in a speech before a prohibition gathering at Richmond?" Governor Smith was asked.

"Yes, I read something about what he said," the Governor replied, smiling.

Reaching across his desk for a copy of the Federal Constitution, the Governor observed:

"I notice that Mr. McAdoo said the Volstead law is not a part of the laws of New York State. Let's see if he is right."

Turning quickly to Section Two of Article Six of the Federal Constitution, the Governor read:

"This constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all the treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land, and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution of the laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding."

Turning to the newspaper men, his face wreathed in smiles, the Governor said:

"If that doesn't mean that the Volstead law is a part of the laws of New York State, then I would like to have someone tell me what it does mean."

"Is that your answer to Mr. McAdoo?" the Governor was asked.

"I repeat, the gentleman doesn't know his constitution. Further than that this deponent knoweth nothing."

When Governor Smith signed the bill in 1923 repealing the State prohibition enforcement law he issued a memorandum declaring there was no necessity for such a State statute because, he said, the authorities of this and every State were duty bound to enforce the Volstead law. Since 1923 the governor repeatedly has reiterated his contention that the Volstead law is as much a part of the State laws, so far as the enforcement is concerned as are the laws enacted by the State legislature.

SAVED FROM FIRE TRAP

Stepping from a bus, Sid Hirshman discovered the house at No. 222 Pearl street to be on fire. He cut his hand breaking glass in the door, but gave the alarm and aided in the rescues. Merrill Calder, 5; Gerald Calder, 2, and Aldon Calder, 8, children of Mrs. Mira Calder, were carried from the top floor.

BUS DRIVER IS INJURED AT FIRE BUT SAVES KIDS

Sid Hirshman of Somerville stepped from a Pearl street bus just in time to play the role of hero in a fire which was roaring through the basement of the house at No. 222 Pearl street, Somerville.

He saw the flames, and though he injured his hand badly in breaking through the glass in the door to make an entrance, he ran through the house giving the alarm to the tenants, and from the top floor he carried two children to safety.

Before leaving to have his bleeding hand treated he called out to Patrolman Elmer Raymond, and this man, too, played a heroic part in the rescue work, as did Firemen McKenzie and Markey a short time later.

In all thirteen persons, men, women and children, were led or carried to safety.

On the first floor in the rear of the store of H. Jiganian, lived the Agresti family, including Mr. and Mrs. John Agresti, Mrs. Agresti's brother, Frank Meschine, and the three Agresti children, Mary, 6, Peter, 4 and Theresa, two years old.

While the firemen led the elders through the smoke to safety, Patrolman Raymond carried out the two youngest children.

The tenements on the second floor were untenanted, but on the top floor lived Mrs. Nina Calder, her four children, Steven, 14, Aldon, 8, Merrill, 5, and Gerald, 2 years old, and Annie Le Page.

Bringing these trapped victims to safety was the hardest work the firemen encountered, as the whole house was thick with smoke. Hirshman had already carried down Merrill and Gerald, and Patrolman Raymond bore to safety Steven and Aldon, while the last person to be led through the smoke was the proprietor of the store who was asleep in the rear.

The fire started in the basement, from the careless use of matches, according to Acting Chief James F. Ward, and the firemen kept the flames to this part of the house.

AH, THE COAL MAN'S ALLY!

HE THINKS HE'S WHAT MAKES IT COLD

Mr. Groundhog, alias Sausage, alias Aardvark, alias Woodchuck, which ventured forth today, got scared of his own shadow and beat it back to his haunts again, thinking he had doomed the world to six more weeks of cold. But the weather man gave him the lie.

SLAYER IS 'GLAD HE SENT THEM TO HEAVEN!'

Riverhead, N. Y., Feb. 2 (I.N.S.).—Worry over failing health, which finally grew to be an obsession and led him to the belief that if his neighbors learned of his misfortune they would lynch him and send his family to the poorhouse, forced the Rev. Claude H. Priddy, former East Boston pastor, to kill his wife and two sons with an axe, he said today.

Sitting in his cell here, Priddy defended his action, comforting himself with the thought that his loved ones were better off now than if they had lived.

"I'm glad I did it," he said. "I know I'll go to hell, but I sent them to heaven. This morning, when the first light of day awoke me in my cell, I realized that I can expect nothing better than hell in my future life, but maybe when I am there I can find a little joy and consolation in knowing that I sent them to heaven and God.

"For weeks and weeks I have had a feeling that the townsfolk and my employes were going to lynch me. If they had lynched me what would have become of my family? They would have dragged them off to the poorhouse to die in disgrace.

"I believe that what I've done is right."

Priddy said he planned to end his own life, too, but his nerve failed.

He is held on a charge of first-degree murder. Coroner Edwin S. Moore, after questioning Priddy, announced that the man appeared to be unbalanced. He said he would seek examination by alienists.

If the former minister is found insane, he will be sent to Matteawan without trial. If he is not found insane he will await Grand Jury action early next month.

Former minister Claude H. Priddy was 51 years old and, in 1903, while still a student at the Boston University School of Theology, held the pastorate of the Maverick Congregational Church in East Boston.

The wife he killed was the daughter of a Congregational minister who served in Cambridge.

VOTING AT HUB CHAMBER

W. EMMETT O'BRIEN CASTING BALLOT

Whether or not to retire all certificate-holding memberships at $200 per share, with accrued interest, was voted on today by members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce as they cast their ballots during a special meeting in the main dining room of the chamber. Starting at noon, the voting lasted three hours. Miss Grace H. Kinney is watching the ballot box.

WEATHER SEER GIVES LIE TO GROUNDHOG

Me and my shadow,
Strolling down the avenue—

Alone with his shadow, deserted by the Weather Man, who is usually an affable fellow, Mr. February Groundhog of Aardvarkville came into town today in a very low frame of mind and with a moan in his voice that may have been song:

Me and my shadow,
Not a soul to tell our troubles to—

His shadow, which is said by the unsophisticated to mean six more weeks of Winter, was only too plainly evident, although he had bored for co-operation from the rain of the winds and storms. It was noon and his moan went on:

And when it's twelve o'clock—
We climb the stair,
We never knock—
For nobody's there.
Just me and my shadow; all alone and feeling blue.

And meanwhile, up under the eaves of the Federal Building, Forecaster Loveland tightened his lips and avoided the subject when cajoled on the subject of the blue-toned woodchuck.

"I am a meteorologist, not a biologist," was all he said, while he crossed up the Groundhog once more with a prediction of a continuation of warming sunshine to temper the chill breezes.

Rare Golden Love Moments ⌒ Gone Forever Now ⌒ Worth $4,000,000 to Ganna

HE GAVE HER STOCKS ON HONEYMOON

Harold F. McCormick, the Chicago millionaire, who spent some time in Boston hospitals, is shown here with Ganna Walska, opera diva, on their honeymoon in Switzerland in 1922. There were few such love moments.

LOVE THEN; DIVORCE NOW

McCormick and his wife shortly after their marriage, when he showered rich gifts on her in his ardent wooing.

This is the last photo made of them together in New York in February, 1927. Reports in Paris are that she will seek a divorce and a huge settlement.

PHOTOGRAPHED IN BOSTON HOTEL

This photo of Ganna Walska shows her at the Copley Plaza Hotel in 1923. She now refuses to give up a bridal gift of Harvester stocks and bonds unless McCormick pays an amount said to approximate almost $4,000,000.

BOSTON'S ENTHUSIASM FOR OPERA JUST AS GREAT AS EVER, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

"Lohengrin" Packs House for Matinee; "Tosca" Scores in Evening

BOSTON'S ENTHUSIASM FOR ITS GRAND OPERA SEASON diminishes not one whit. On the contrary, enthusiasm mounts and mounts as the musical scroll unrolls in glorious length. Yesterday, for the matinee, a crowded house listened enthralled to the Wagnerian masterpiece, "Lohengrin," and in the evening, another crowded house, arrayed peacock-wise in its handsomest "purple" and its most exquisite "fine linen," applauded "Tosca" with great fervor. But even two such operatic delights as these performances cannot appease the appetite that is truly musical. Other operas yet to come are "sold out."

APPARENTLY FEMININE BOSTON IN ITS UPPERMOST stratas is extremely well fortified in a sartorial sense, for the season of Grand Opera. Gowns just freshly out of their tissue wrappings, jewels to harmonize, each chosen with meticulous taste, wraps of a dazzling splendor and richness, these all contribute to the pulsing scene that Boston may create and enjoy but once a season, for a brief two weeks. The orchestra, the boxes and the balcony furnish an incomparable scene for one side of the footlights. For the other, the incomparables from Chicago furnish the light and color.

SOME OF BOSTON'S MOST DISTINGUISHED THRILLED TO Vanni-Marcoux, Muzio, Kipnis and Maestro Polacco. And applauded to the echo. Francis Lee Higginson brought friends to "Tosca." his group including Mrs. Frederic Sprague Goodwin, wear no a handsome caracul and baby lamb wrap, and gown of black velvet with diamonds and pearls for jewels. That pretty young matron, Mrs. George L. Batchelder, Jr., was swathed in a graceful wrap, ruby velvet and gray fox, and her gown was the dainty rose pink net that Paris say: must be intricately embroidered and designed in sequins and beads.

IN THE B. H. BRISTOW DRAPER BOX THERE WAS A SMART group for "Tosca." Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller and His Excellency, Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Wadsworth and Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Leeson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Draper. Mrs. Draper's gown was the scintillant made, a svelly molded black chiffon, completely covered with glistening silver beads. Mrs. Wadsworth's gown was the "bouffant-bustle" fashion in crisp moire. Mrs. Fuller's exquisite French crepe was aglow with beads and sequins in the "just off the white" tint of the moment.

AS USUAL THE H. WENDELL ENDICOTTS HAD AN INTERESTING box group for their No. 37. Mrs. Endicott's gown for the third evening of opera was a beaded effect of silvery gray on black. Miss Mary Otis, in a box just a bit farther round the horseshoe, was radiance itself in red gown and red velvet wrap with fox collar of snowy white. And very lovely was Mrs. Herbert Foster Otis, in an ensemble of white, without a fleck of color. Mrs. J. Lovell Little's costume emphasized the effectiveness of orchids clustered at the shoulder of a rose-orchid metal cloth gown.

IN THE PROMENADE'S CRUSH CERTAIN GOWNS AND CERTAIN matrons caught and held the eye. There was Mrs. A. Lithgow Devens in gold lace, and Mrs. Wallace Goodrich in black lace and chiffon, two lines of brilliants trailing from shoulder to hem; Mrs. Edwin Jackson Holmes, in rose net and lame; Mrs. Walter Pratt, in gold cloth; Mrs. William Dana Orcutt, in a period gown of embroidered taffeta, rose and black; Mrs. Malcolm Bradlee, in black and white chiffon; Mrs. Theodore Frothingham, in white moire and ermine; Mrs. George B. Dabney, in velvet and a gorgeous red and silver wrap, and Mrs. E. Sohier Welch, in turquoise metal cloth, with pearls about her throat.

SEEING MRS. F. L. W. RICHARDSON ARRIVE EN GRANDE tenue for the opera, such expressions as "handsome" and "distinguished" readily spring to mind. Last evening Mrs. Richardson was her usual very handsome self, her gown of black smartly done in diagonal design with bands of silver lace, and her wrap a creation of ermine and mink. Mrs. Paul M. Hamlen, with Mrs. Richardson, wore black velvet with ropes of pearls and glinting diamonds. The Edward Wigglesworth Grew family—Mrs. Grew in black caracul and flyrix and velvet gown—included two daughters, Mrs. Paul Birdsall and Miss Esther Grew.

FAMILY-WISE, THE JOHN REED POSTS ATTENDED OPERA. Mr. Post squiring his two pretty daughters, Miss Madeleine and Miss Mary Post. Likewise, a fine family representation of the Jacksons came to the opera. Mrs. James Jackson, Senior, as handsome a dowager as ever graced opera box; Mrs. James Jackson, Jr., and Miss Helen Jackson made up the feminine contingent thereof. Mrs. Hinkley Welch's box party included her pretty sub-debutante daughter. Mrs. Welch chose from her always smart wardrobe a black velvet slenderly draped into a fishtail train that was immensely effective when worn by one with fluffy golden hair and graceful height.

THE ROBERT WEEKS FAMILY group for "Tosca" was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Weeks, the latter in misty blue chiffon beaded in pale silver, and Miss Katherine Weeks, in metal cloth. Miss Betty Harlett, Miss Ellen Hallowell and Miss Elinor Collier followed the young girl mode for ermine wraps. Mrs. Hendricks Hallet Whitman's gown was smartness itself, a bright pomegranate red with deep fringe. Miss Pauline Fenno's gown was velvet. Miss Harriet Royce wore honey yellow moire. Miss Eugenia Frothingham's velvet gown was bright red-rose. Miss Betty Soule's scarlet satin was the bustle effect.

MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS affairs have a way of being quite impressive. Everyone recalls the important occasion when the John Singer Sargent murals were unveiled, and society and the arts and letters flocked in enormous numbers to add brilliance to impressiveness. In the future, perhaps to be a Spring occasion, the opening of the New Wing for Western Art is rich with promise for those whose keen interest is with and for the splendid institution that adorns the Fenway. At the moment, however, it is the Museum School students, those aspirants towards fame and careers, who take center stage.

YESTERDAY THEY HAD their private view and opening, at the splendidly equipped and very spacious new building. Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, in black, and Mrs. Calvin Gates Page, in King's blue satin and lace, received in the gallery where hang the canvases of these young students—a gallery that is so fittingly an offshoot of its parent institution just over the way. Admiring friends and doting relatives came in great numbers. Altogether the "opening" was enormously successful.

FULLER GIVES PRIZES TO SCOUTS

Governor Fuller, in a little ceremonial today in his office at the State House, met and commended a troop of Boy Scouts of Dover who recently won a prize of $50, given by an anonymous donor, for excellent work in reducing the fire hazard in that town.

As a result of their efforts the number of fires showed a reduction over the average for five years of 29.2 per cent.

The Governor also presented to Charles R. Lovejoy of Jamaica Plain, Eagle Scout, a scholarship certificate for $100 for any leading college in the United States. The certificate comes from the Harmon Fund for "a high absorption in the basic things of scouting and in carrying on the high ideals of the movement" over a period of years.

The Governor then pinned eagle badges, highest rank possible in scouting, on the breasts of these boys: Irving Rudin, Dorchester, 21; Carl Radio, Dorchester, 22; Albert Flower, Troop 8, Milton; Max Green, Dorchester, 22; Jack Golden, Roxbury, 14, and Robert T. Young, Troop 4, Brookline.

In congratulating Lovejoy in particular for his winning the scholarship certificate the Governor said:

"I would be very proud if it were my boy who was receiving an award like this."

CANDLEMAS IS CELEBRATED IN CHURCHES

Candlemas, or the Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin, was celebrated today by Catholics in all churches throughout the diocese, with the blessing of candles as the chief feature.

At the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, four masses were celebrated, concluding with a solemn high mass at 9 o'clock. This was celebrated by the Rev. Neil A. Cronin, administrator of the church. Assisting were the Rev. William A. Davis as deacon, the Rev. John R. Wall, sub-deacon, and the Rev. Harry M. O'Connor, master of ceremonies.

The Feast of St. Blase will be celebrated tomorrow and in all churches of the archdiocese throats will be blessed after each mass, and again in the afternoon and evening.

CO-OPERATIVE BANK BILL IS OPPOSED

Bank Commissioner Roy A. Hovey today urged a committee of the Legislature to report favorably on a change in the law to prohibit cooperative banks from selling paid-up shares or similar securities which represented more than 10 per cent. of the assets of the institutions.

Frank S. Mason of the Treasurers' Club opposed the change on the ground that every cooperative bank now has the power to adopt the features of the bill proposed. The change would restrict the business of the banks, he said.

BROTHER OF DUCHESS MARRIES HER FRIEND

London, Feb. 2 (A.P.).—English society, headed by the Duke and Duchess of York, assembled in force at St. George's, Hanover square, today for the wedding of the duchess' bridesmaid and lifelong friend, Elisabeth Caloro, to the Hon. Michael Bowles-Lyon, brother of the Duchess of York.

Numerous wedding presents including gifts from the Queen and Princess Mary.

"MEDICINE MAN" AND WIFE SEIZED IN DRUG CASE

Chief "Lone Wolf," or Mark J. Watson, an Indian medicine man who sells to the public a preparation guaranteed to be free of harmful narcotics, was arrested for illegal possession of morphine today. His wife was seized for a similar offense and both were later arraigned in municipal court. Each received a suspended sentence of one month.

have you "YELLOW MASK?"

Look at Your Teeth. Do They Have a Yellowish Hue? Then Here's the Way to Sparkling Whiteness . . . Guaranteed!

THAT unbecoming yellowish tinge is not in the tooth enamel but in a thin, glassy mask that a "liquid cement" in your saliva has formed over the enamel.

So what dental science has done is to perfect a means of removing that unsightly "Yellow Mask" without harm to the soiest enamel. There is a basic substance that does this to perfection. It is known as "Tri-Calcium Phosphate." The leading dentists use it for cleaning and polishing teeth.

But the chief aim of science has been to give you the marvelous benefits of this wonderful "Tri-Calcium Phosphate" for daily use. In a pleasant, tasty tooth paste. So that you could first remove that repellent "Yellow Mask" and secondly, have dazzlingly white teeth forever.

It's been a big job! The most noted scientists have worked on it. But now success has come.

The name of this magic dentifrice is ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE. Dentists everywhere hail it. Prima donnas of the movie screen, opera and stage are using it. In less than six months more than a million women and men have abandoned old-styled dentifrices for ORPHOS and testify to teeth whiter and lovelier than ever before.

We want you to try this marvelous ORPHOS at once. Get a tube from your druggist. Give it a friendly trial, expecting amazing improvement in the whiteness of your teeth. Look solely for new teeth beauty. Expect no sideshow of foam and lather—just increasing whiteness. If you don't get a real thrill of delight, take the unused portion of the tube back and get the full purchase price. Now don't keep beauty waiting—act!

LEXINGTON PIG BAN CASE FOUGHT IN COURT

While nearly 2,000 members of the swine family—big pigs and little pigs—grunted peacefully at their habitat in Lexington, the slow-grinding wheels of justice in Middlesex civil court today sought to determine should they move, and, if so, where. Judge Webster Thayer sits with a jury on the case brought about by the petition of John M. Misseri, owner, who asks that the court determine issues between him and the town of Lexington which has ordered a ban on the pigs.

FIVE VICTIMS OF NEWTON BLAST LAID TO REST

A cortege with three hearses containing the bodies of a mother and two of her children passed through West Newton streets today to St. Bernard's Church, where a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated for Mrs. Josephine Gorgone, Helen Gorgone, four, and Grace, thirteen, all victims of the still explosion of last Monday.

At the same time another victim of the blast, Salvatore Lacava, was buried from the Church of the Sacred Heart, Waltham. Health Inspector Leonard Jackson of Newton, also a victim, was buried from Lincoln Park Baptist Church after military and fraternal lodge rites.

The sixth victim of the tragedy, Thomas Gorgone, brother of Mr. Gorgone, will be buried tomorrow.

The church where services were held for the mother and two children was filled. The bodies were borne to the church from the home of Mrs. Gorgone's father-in-law, at No. 100 Lexington street. Five other children of the dead woman were among the mourners.

Rev. William J. Dwyer celebrated the mass, assisted by Rev. M. J. Donahy and Rev. William T. A. O'Brien. Father Donahy said prayers at the graves in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. Salvatore Lacava was also buried in Calvary, after a mass in the Waltham church.

City officials attended the funeral services of Leonard J. Jackson, City Hall being closed for the afternoon. The Elks held house services at the Jackson residence, No. 445 Crafts street. Odd Fellows participated in the funeral rites and a squad from Company C, 101st Infantry, representing the American Legion, fired a volley at the grave. Rev. Robert Macomble conducted the church services.

MOVE TO CUT OFF PAY FOR TROOPS IN NICARAGUA

Washington, Feb. 2 (A.P.)—Withholding of appropriations for American forces stationed in Nicaragua was suggested in the Senate today by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska.

He said the only check Congress had against the use of Marines would be the withholding of appropriations and he quickly won the support of Senator King, Democrat, Utah.

Senator King announced he would introduce a resolution tomorrow asking the Senate Judiciary Committee to report on whether President Coolidge has the right to make "war in Nicaragua" without a declaration by Congress.

FRENCH TO PAY U. S., DECLARES POINCARE

Paris, Feb. 2 (I.N.S.)—Premier Poincare announced in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon that France would pay her war debt to the United States.

This was the first time that an official statement has been made to that effect. All indications pointed to a desire on the part of France to have the Berenger-Mellon debt agreement cancelled.

"We did not ratify the debt agreement because we were not sure we could transfer so many francs during the next sixty years," said the Premier. "But now we are in a position to pay and we wil continue to do so."

The Berenger-Mellon agreement was not formally ratified by the French government.

'BIG BUSINESS' NOT ALL 'DRY,' WETS SAY

Washington, Feb. 2 (I.N.S.)—The wets today challenged the drys' claim that "big business" is overwhelmingly for prohibition.

Submitting a list of its 1927 contributors to the clerk of the House, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment listed some of the nation's biggest captains of industry among its backers.

At the same time wet leaders discussed their intention to make a nation-wide campaign this year to enlist "big business" in the fight. More than $200,000 was raised for the wet war chest during 1927, the report showed.

"The list of members and contributors is a denial of the claim that big business men are all in favor of prohibition," said Col. J. Hinckley, secretary of the association against the prohibition amendment. "Many business men have volunteered their co-operation."

Among the wealthy members of the organization he listed Arthur Curtiss James and Edward Harkness, reputed to be the first and second largest holders of railroad securities in the country; Pierre du Pont of the Delaware family of capitalists, and W. W. Atterbury, head of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Among the chief backers of the association against the prohibition amendment were:

Edward S. Harkness, $10,000; Mrs. W. L. Harkness, $1,000; Arthur Curtiss James, $2,500; G. H. Walker, $5,000; Mortimer L. Schiff, $750; Louis C. Tiffany, $500, all of New York; Clarence H. Geist of Philadelphia, $5,000.

HUNT FOR SMITH GIRL WITH BIG SEARCHLIGHT

Working again on a suicide theory, State police today announced they would employ a powerful submarine searchlight at Paradise Pond or in the Connecticut River, near Northampton, in a search for the body of Frances St. John Smith, missing Smith College freshman.

State Detective Joseph V. Daly stated the pond would be searched first under the searching rays and, meeting with no success there, he would erect the light on the bank of the river.

Danger of loss of life in the swirling river was give, as the source for the new departure with the officials bearing in mind the narrow escape three men had from death as they were drawn under the ice as they searched the river.

The pond has been searched but the bottom was covered with ice cakes that may have concealed a body, authorities pointed out.

Meanwhile, Mr. and Mrs. St. John Smith, reluctant to lean toward the suicide theory, grasped hopefully at vague hints of their daughter being alive.

"FLYING" LEVINE IS BUILDING BIGGEST PLANE

New York, Feb. 2 (I.N.S.)—Charles A. Levine, transatlantic flier, today predicted that 1928 would eclipse 1927 in spectacular aviation achievements.

"Around-the-world flight in twenty days is feasible," he said.

He said he was now building the largest airship in the world—a powerful, seven-motored plane, capable of carrying fifty passengers across the ocean through the severest kind of rain, snow or wind storms.

"This gigantic airship will be completed in about a year," said Levine.

LIGHTEN STEAMSHIP AGROUND IN HARBOR

Discouraged at the many attempts to float the Shipping Board steamship Calcasieu, hard aground on Middle Ground, in the centre of the harbor, Rogers & Weeks today sent four lighters to the vessel that cargo may be removed to lighten her for a final attempt at floating on the next high tide tonight.

The vessel was drawing 22 feet of water when she struck Tuesday morning. It was nearly high tide at the time and she pulled up on the shoal spot. She has 2,400 tons in the hold, and was making port here to load 1,500 tons more.

MEXICO AGREES TO BANKERS' DEBT TERMS

Mexico City, Feb. 2 (I.N.S.)—The international bankers' committee has reached an agreement with the Mexican government modifying the terms of the pecuniary agreements, it was announced this afternoon.

There are still details to be worked out. Members of the committee will hold a number of conferences with Minister of Finance Luis Montes De Oca.

Ford Air Flivver Back

Detroit, Feb. 2 (I.N.S.)—Harry Brooks arrived at the Ford airport this afternoon from Cleveland in the Ford "flivver" plane. Henry Ford has announced that Brooks will try another non-stop flight from Detroit for Miami.

GILCHRIST'S
THE FRIENDLY STORE

The Debutante

—a thoroughbred

THE debutante, the young society woman, stands today as the most significant American type—active, resourceful, independent, intelligent, fastidious.

She has all the advantages that background, education and travel can give her. She is light-hearted, enthusiastic, and fond of action. But because of this debonair attitude toward life, she has been accused of being frivolous, of loving only pleasure, and of knowing not the value of time and money.

Harper's Bazar has a story to tell of the debutante of today—a story based on experience with some 1715 of her, in 107 cities throughout the country.

Harper's Bazar inspired her to go into business. Several years ago, Harper's Bazar, realizing that debutantes and their world are the logical readers of the magazine of the Inner Circle, organized groups of the younger social set in various cities. They assumed the task of presenting Harper's Bazar to such of their immediate circle as were not already on our lists, and entering their subscriptions. So successful were they that the idea spread, and now, four years later, debutante groups have been at work in 107 cities, and through their efforts, 41,272 names of importance have been added to our lists.

And so the debutante has gone into business. Her father, himself a big business man, is proud of his daughter's business ability; her mother marvels; and her brother is piqued to find that her salesmanship rivals his.

It is significant and appropriate that the magazine which caters preeminently to the modern young society woman, should be the means of demonstrating to a questioning world that this young woman has enthusiasm, initiative, and proven business ability that have brought invaluable subscribers to Harper's Bazar, and invaluable experience to herself.

For the advertiser, the debutante has created a unique, personally selected audience that combines social influence and purchasing power.

Harper's Bazar publishes a chatty, fascinating little magazine for its 1715 workers, entitled "Entre Nous." A copy will be mailed to anyone interested, upon request addressed to The Debutante Bureau, Harper's Bazar, 119 West 40th Street, New York.

THREATEN JAIL FOR STANDARD OIL CHIEF

Washington, Feb. 2 (A.P.)—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company, of Indiana, underwent a grueling examination today at the hands of the Senate oil committee and at the end he was given until tomorrow to answer certain questions of the committee under possible threat of citation for contempt.

As the committee adjourned, Senator Walsh said if Stewart refused to answer again tomorrow, it would be decided whether he would be cited for contempt and immediate arrest, or whether his case would be certified to the District of Columbia Supreme Court, as was done in the case of Sinclair, who refused to answer questions four years ago.

WON'T TALK OF FAIL.

Near the end of a long session of the committee, in which Stewart was giving his first public testimony in connection with the activities of the Continental Trading Company of Canada, Senator Walsh asked if he had heard that profits of the company, whose contract to buy oil was guaranteed by Stewart and Harry F. Sinclair, had gone from Sinclair to Albert B. Fall after the lease of Teapot Dome.

After considerable sparring, Stewart said he was sorry but that he could not give hearsay evidence.

When Walsh asked him if he had read in the newspapers that Liberty bonds had been transferred to Fall, he replied that he did not know that to be a fact.

"What do you know about the bonds going to Fall?" Walsh pursued.

"I never had anything to do with the distribution of any bonds of the Continental Trading Company," Stewart replied.

CHALLENGES AUTHORITY.

The exchange took place after Stewart had said the Standard of Indiana had failed to buy oil when the Continental finally obtained from A. E. Humphreys of Denver, because he (Stewart) declined to enter a stock exchange deal with the Denver man. The Continental bought this oil for $1.50 a barrel and sold it to Standard and Sinclair subsidiaries for $1.75. The committee is seeking to find what disposition was made of the profits.

"I've never handled any of these bonds and never given any of them to any political party or to any official of the United States, any State, or any Territory," Stewart said.

Before answering, Stewart had challenged the authority of the committee. After explaining that he had been subpoenaed in the Fall-Sinclair case, he said:

"I don't think the investigation as it is being conducted by the committee is within the jurisdiction of the committee under the law."

'CAP'N LARRY,' FISHER, DIES

Lawrence J. Norris—"Cap'n Larry" to fisherfolk of the Boston Fish Pier and habitues of the fishing banks—died today at his South Boston home following a short illness.

Captain Norris, for years the skipper of the fishing schooner Gosson, was well known for his daring and hardiness he risked fleet through for high markets for the sake of profit for his men. His vessel, one of the fastest in the O'Hara fleet, was mentioned as a contestant in the fishing races last Fall.

For years he piled out of Boston and was known to thousands for his gruff though kindly manner in his associations.

Members of the Fish Bureau and Fish Exchange ordered flags on all vessels at half-mast. Delegations from both associations will attend the funeral, arrangements for which have not been completed.

TWO CAMBRIDGE MEN HELD AS BURGLARS

Two Cambridge men, James Richards of Columbia street and Smith Ryfa of Hurley street, were arraigned in Brookline Court today charged with breaking and entering the Runkle School, Brookline, and with having burglars' tools in their possession.

Richards was also charged with carrying a gun and breaking and entering the home of Dr. Robert T. Moffatt of No. 72 York terrace, Brookline. Both pleaded guilty and were held for the Grand Jury. Richards in $2,500 and Ryfa in $1,500.

DEATH PENALTY IS SCORED AS 'BARBAROUS'

Calling capital punishment barbarous and seeing in the death penalty a "reflection of the witch delusion," the Massachusetts Council for Abolition of the Death Penalty, in a printed argument, outlines a scientific method of treatment for all offenders.

"Massachusetts once killed twenty 'witches' in one year, but the advance of reason has made us thoroughly ashamed of this spectacle and it is one of the historic facts about which we do not boast," asserts the council. "In capital punishment we have a reflection of the witch delusion. Eventually it too will pass.

"We believe that experts agree that the right way of treating offenders includes:

"More certain and prompt arrests; fewer delays in trials; segregation of imbeciles; differentiation of youthful offenders, first offenders and adult offenders of different kinds; discipline, that each offender may learn to control his impulses and particularly the sudden passionate impulses which result in the injury of others; instruction in trades and crafts; efforts to substitute the sense of social solidarity for anti-social tendencies.

"This means, in short, segregation in a school for moral reeducation if it means segregation, not for fixed sentences 'to fit the crime,' but for indeterminate sentences of until impartial experts shall certify that each offender has been sufficiently reeducated to go back to society on parole.

"Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York recently recommended that the sentencing power should be placed in an expert board which would in each case suit the penalty and the treatment of the individual criminal as a thorough study of his case warrants.

"The movement to abolish capital punishment is in line with the progressive development of the scientific method and of moral ideas."

RESCUE 2 GIRLS FROM FUMES

Miss May Nevins of West Brookline street, South End, and Miss Katherine Shearer of the same street, were rescued by firemen today when trapped on the 13th floor of the Metropolitan Theatre building by sodium dioxide fumes.

Miss Nevins managed to reach a window, where her screams were heard by a taxicab driver, who notified Rescue Company No. 1 of the fire department.

Firemen wearing gas masks took the two women to the street, where Miss Nevins was revived. Miss Shearer was taken to the City Hospital and later sent home. The gas fumes spread when the pressure got beyond control of workmen who were cleaning a restaurant on the first floor.

FAST HUB-TO-ENGLAND SERVICE DISCUSSED

Four-day steamship service between England and Boston, with the new Blue Ribbon line making the Hub its western terminus, was discussed today by officials of the Maritime Association, following a talk with officials of the line in discussion of the recommendation to Congress that a 30-foot channel be dredged in Dorchester Bay.

Lawrence R. Wilder, president of the American Brown Boveri Electric Corporation, backers of the proposed line, became interested in the Hub with the announcement of the recommendation. He inspected the port some time ago and pointed out the advantages to be gained by linking the main ship channel with the Cow Pasture section.

MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL HOSPITAL BOARD ELECTS

The annual meeting of the Corporation of the Massachusetts General Hospital took place in the trustees' room in the Moseley Memorial Building. Reports were read by the secretary, Francis Gray, and the report of the trustees was also given.

The following officers were chosen for the coming year: Henry C. Walcott, president; Henry Hunnewell, vice-president; Francis Gray, secretary, and Charles H. W. Foster, treasurer; Charles H. W. Foster, Nathaniel Kidder, William Endicott, John R. Macomber, Sewall H. Fessenden, Robert Homans and Dr. Algernon Coolidge, board of trustees.

CONSUL, AIDED BY DOG, NABS CAMBRIDGE PROWLER

Peter M. Liakos of White street, Waverly, is detained by the police following his capture by Charles F. Flamand, consul of Monaco, who found the youth in the yard of his father's home, French Consul J. C. Joseph Flamand, at No. 18 Longfellow road, Cambridge.

The younger Flamand, with his dog, Bum, went into the yard seeking a shadow he believed he had seen. The youth, it is alleged, ran, the dog caused him to halt and young Flamand then captured him.

FAVOR EXTENDING LIFE OF RADIO COMMISSION

Washington, Feb. 2 (I.N.S.)—The life of the Federal Radio Commission would be extended for one year, from March 15, under a bill approved today by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

It would limit broadcasting licenses to six months, after March 15, with executive authority over radio vested in the Commerce Department.

YOUTH INVENTS LIFE-SAVER FOR PLANE

Washington, Feb. 2 (I.N.S.)—Youth has again stepped forward with a major contribution to aeronautics.

Acclaiming the invention as the most promising device yet offered to insure the safety of airplane passengers, civil and military authorities today took under consideration the designs of Peter A. Beck, 25-year-old Ogden, U., airman, for equipment which automatically discharges all persons from distressed or disabled machines.

His invention consists of an ordinary airplane seat swung on a horizontal axis above a trap door in the bottom of the fuselage. When a pilot, perceiving danger, wishes to eject his human cargo, he has simply to pull a lever releasing the trap. The release of the doors tilts the seat, dropping the occupant with his parachute clear of the machine.

The ripcord, which releases the folds of the parachute, is fastened to the plane, thus eliminating all demand for thought or action on the part of the passenger. The trapdoors, which open equally from the center of the plane, provide additional wing area for a grip if the pilot remains at his controls in an effort to pull his craft out of a spin.

The principal military advantage, according to army experts, is that it would enable a pilot to discharge a wounded gunner or observer in friendly territory without landing.

Extending the trapdoor principle to cargo compartments in transport planes, Beck has evolve[illegible] equipment for automatically discharging mail pouches, freight or express at intermediate points where no landing facilities are available.

POLI SAYS $30,000,000 THEATRE DEAL STILL ON

New Haven, Feb. 2 (A.P.)—In spite the expiration of the $350,000 option held by a Boston syndicate headed by Max Schoolman on the S. Z. Poli chain of New England theatres, indications are that the deal has not been dropped according to those interested in the transaction, involving $20,000,000. Stating that the option expired last night without being taken up or extended, Sylvester Z. Poli, owner of the theatre chain, said: "Negotiations are still under way and I do not expect to see the matter definitely decided for three or four days."

TAXES CUT, SAYS COSGRAVE

New York, Feb. 2 (A.P.)—Cheered and dined by the city's political and business leaders, William T. Cosgrave, head of the Irish Free State, today faced two more busy days.

President Cosgrave said at a dinner the Free State's national debt is at present $38 per capita, approximately one's year revenue. Taxation had been reduced from $52.50 per capita to $32.50, and his country faced the future with a balanced budget and a stable currency, he said.

For today Mr. Cosgrave accepted an invitation to luncheon from the Bond Club, a dinner at the Lotus Club, and later he was to review the 165th Regiment in their armory.

Tomorrow he is to be a luncheon guest at the Lawyers' Club and attend a reception in the afternoon. Tomorrow night he is to be a guest of the St. Patrick's Society of Brooklyn at a dinner, later going to the Emerald Society ball before boarding the Olympic for his homeward passage. The Olympic is scheduled to sail at 3 a. m Saturday morning.

Eamon De Valera has arrived in New York today after a tour of Western States and plans to sail soon for home. Asked if De Valera would see President Cosgrave, the secretary replied, "Use your own judgment."

HINT BAYER HEIRESS WINS BLESSING; QUITS $17 HOME

New York, Feb. 2 (A.P.)—Vincent Edward Brown, hotel clerk, and his heiress bride, the former Sybil Bayer, who had started their marital life last week in a $17 a week furnished room, were established today in an East Fiftieth street apartment hotel where a one-room apartment costs $150 a month. The change for the better in their mode of living led friends to believe there may have been a reconciliation with the bride's parents, but the latter declined to make any statement. Mrs. Brown is a granddaughter of the late Julius Kayser, glove manufacturer.

FULLER BACKS HIGHER PAY FOR READING AIDES

Increase in the salaries of the 11 assistants of Attorney-General Arthur K. Reading, recommended by the Attorney-General, have been approved by Governor Fuller and the Executive Council.

The raise amounts to $750 a year for Franklin D. Putman, senior assistant, and $500 to the others.

In urging the new salary levels, the Attorney-General told the Governor and council that when one of his assistants resigned recently, he approached a score of competent attorneys and all but four declined an appointment because of the remuneration.

Here is the new schedule: Franklin D. Putman, $8,500; Joseph E. Warner, $5,000; Roger Clapp, $5,000; Charles F. Lovejoy, $5,000; Samuel H. Lewis, $4,500; Ralph W. Stearns, $4,500; Emma F. Schofield, $4,500; Gerald J. Callahan, $4,500; James S. Eastham, $4,500; H. Ammi Cutter, $3,000; Vincent J. Zelo, $3,000.

"Beautiful smooth skin wins instant response"

says F. W. Murnau
director

"PEOPLE respond instantly to the loveliness of beautiful skin. Every star knows this—they take the utmost care of their skin.

"For in the close-up only the skin of naturally flawless beauty can stand the pitiless search of glaring lights—even slight make-up is apt to show.

"I have observed that the girls who attain success in the films have skins of amazing smoothness." . . F. W. Murnau.

JANET GAYNOR and the smartly designed, utterly feminine bathroom that reflects the spirit of her sparkling beauty which has made her famous among Fox Film Stars.

A STAR in Hollywood guards her skin carefully—youthful "studio skin" means even more to her than it does to other women—it means her life, her career. And in that city of youth, nothing is watched more jealously than this loveliness of skin.

Nine out of every ten stars use Lux Toilet Soap. It cares for the skin the true French way. Lux Toilet Soap is made by the very method France developed and uses for her finest toilet soaps.

NICHOLS MAKES HOT ATTACK ON 'FIN. COM.'

A vicorous attack on the Boston Finance Commission by Mayor Nichols today featured a hearing before the legislative committee on state administration.

The Mayor declared the city is being "investigated to death" by the commission.

"I never saw so many experts in my life and when they all get through there is not a teacup full of anything."

The Mayor was urging the committee to give him the right to allow Boston's mayor to appoint at least two members of the Finance Commission. All five are now appointed by the Governor.

He also advocated empowering the Mayor to appoint members of the licensing board of the city and to the metropolitan district commission.

LINE UP AGAINST MAYOR.

Lined up against any change in the finance commission appointments were two former chairmen—John R. Murphy and Michael H. Sullivan—and these prominent citizens: Dr. Morton Prince, chairman of the Boston Charter Association; George R. Nutter, attorney; General Francis Peabody of Milton; Robert S. Stone of Boston; Theodore E. Stevenson and Benjamin Lane of West Roxbury.

The Mayor said there are three members on the finance commission that he knows by their first name. He contended the "Fin. Com." attacks have served no purpose but to hurt the city.

The Mayor charged the theory of the commission is "force, criticism and ill-will."

MUST CHECK EXTRAVAGANCE.

Referring to the activities of the commission which the Mayor attacked, Dr. Prince said: "The man on the street only hears the pin-pricks. But anyone who regards the reports of the finance commission as pin-pricks must have the skin of an alligator."

Attorney Nutter declared that of course, any man would like to appoint his own option. He deplored the fact that the mayor had dragged the personal element into the discussion.

General Peabody said there never was more occasion for checking extravagances in Boston than today. The city has the worst streets and the dirtiest streets of any city in the country, he charged.

"Recently a report was submitted stating that Boston had the best air in he world," he added. "For that we are very grateful."

Former Chairman Murphy thought the mayor appeared "a little peeved." Rather than to make the changes suggested by the mayor, he said, he would wipe out the commission entirely.

REVERE PEEPING TOM SAVED BY DARKNESS

Right in the middle of an adventure story, with rattling chases and all, Max Lincoff of Campbell avenue, Revere, had to leave his warm parlor and stage an adventure and chase of his own through the darkness, he reported to police today.

He chased a "Peeping Tom," the same, police believe, who has been annoying women in the Campbell street section for several nights.

Lincoff was taking his ease in his parlor, reading a magazine, when he heard sounds. He went into the dark kitchen and saw, through the window, a man come up to the rear bedroom and look in.

When Lincoff raced out of the house, the stranger fled and succeeded in outdistancing Lincoff, who described him to police as about twenty-five years old.

Woman Sues Rich Col. Wheeler as 'Life Aide'

Los Angeles, Feb 2 (A.P.)—An agreement whereby Colonel E. C. Wheeler, Nevada millionaire, was said to have attempted to obtain Mrs. Isobel Klein, former Washington (D. C.) attorney, as his secretary for life was revealed here today when his suit to recover $25,000 from Mrs. Klein came to trial.

In a counter-suit Mrs. Klein said that Colonel Wheeler, "to obtain her services as permanent secretary, offered her these inducements:

Promised to take her into his office as his niece, educate her two children, buy her a home and automobiles, give her $100,000 in Nevada Water Company stock and make a will leaving her his fortune.

That was seven years ago, and since then, she contends, he has paid only $20,000 on her $67,000 Beverly Hills home, made only small down payments on two automobiles, failed to produce the water stock and taken notes for all of the money he has advanced.

She asks $50,000—her salary for seven years at $250 a week.

CANADIAN COUNCIL BACKS COURTS IN JEWISH ROW

London, Feb. 2 (A.P.)—In the appeal of Montreal Jews to the privy council from a decision of the Supreme Court of Canada regarding the rights of Jews in the Protestant and other schools of the Province of Quebec the judicial committee of the privy council gave judgment today affirming, with variations, the Supreme Court ruling. The appellants must pay the costs of the board of Protestant school commissioners Montreal, in connection with the appeal. The appeal was against the judgment given by the Supreme Court of Canada upholding the Quebec Court of Appeals in its ruling that persons of the Jewish faith could not be appointed to the board of Protestant school commissioners and that the board was not obliged to appoint Jewish teachers.

MODIFY MEXICO INTERVENTION CLAUSE

Havana, Feb. 2 (I.N.S.)—All States possess the independent right to work out their own welfare "without intervention on control by other States, but in the exercise of this right they must not violate the rights of other States," says a clause of the proposed new international code which was submitted today to the second commission of the Pan-American union conference dealing with international law.

V. Maurtua of Peru, reporter of the commission on public international law, offered the intervention paragraph to replace another sponsored by Mexico which banned intervention for any reason whatsoever.

Maurtua's interpretation of the intervention question outlining the rights of the States and their obligations, avoided direct declaration of the non-intervention policy of Mexico and one or two other small republics. Mexico favored a blunt clause reading:

"No State may intervene in the affairs of another."

Santo Domingo delegates were said to favor the Mexican proposal, seeing in it a slap at the United States for sending marines into Haiti and Nicaragua.

The committee at a meeting today discussed the duties and obligations of States, bringing in the question of civil war in Nicaragua. This was mentioned as an example when measures were considered to suppress the activities of ships that were aiding the rebel or anti-government forces.

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.

VETERAN BILL DOAK SIGNS 1928 CONTRACT

New York, Feb. 2 (I.N.S.)—Signed contracts for the 1928 season have been received from Bill Doak, "veteran spitball pitcher," Jay Partridge, second baseman, and Overton Tremper, utility outfielder, it was announced today by the Brooklyn Dodgers. Partridge came up from the Southern Association last year, and Tremper reported later in the season after graduating from the University of Pennsylvania.

OUSTED LYNN TEACHER WILL GET RE-HEARING

Judge Pierce of the Supreme Court has granted the motion of Mrs. Della H. Clifford of Lynn for a rehearing of her petition for a writ of mandamus against Mayor Ralph S. Bauer and the school committee of Lynn to compel them to restore her to her former position as a teache rin the schools of that city, from which position she claims she was illegally removed.

RAJAH WIRES HE WILL DIE IF MARRIAGE FAILS

Bombay, British India, Feb. 2 (A.P.)—The Daily Sandesh says the former Maharajah of Indore has sent this telegram to his private secretary in regard to his intentions to marry Miss Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, Wash.:

"Inform all if marriage with Miss Miller cannot take place I shall die."

Bay State Population Shows Fast Growth

Population is increasing faster in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut than in the United States as a whole, Federal census figures show.

These three States show an aggregate increase of 12.75 per cent. since 1920, while the rate for the entire country is 12.22 per cent. For the past two years the growth was 2.82 per cent., as compared with 2.82 per cent. for the whole country.

New England has a population of 8,155,000, according to the Census Bureau estimates, and this is an increase of 10.55 per cent. since 1920. The gains in New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont were relatively small.

600 JOBLESS PLEAD FOR N. Y. "FOOD KITCHENS"

New York, Feb. 2 (A.P.).—A crowd of unemployed men, estimated by police at 600, today drafted a resolution calling upon Mayor Walker to open public buildings and establish municipal food kitchens to shelter and sustain the city's jobless workers. The original plan to march upon city hall and present their demands in person was amended when police halted their parade because they had no permit.

CONVICTED THREE YEARS AGO, SENTENCED TODAY

David Namet of Chelsea, who in 1923 was indicted with Percy and Charles Friedman for the larceny of automobiles in Chelsea, and on Jan. 2, 1925, was found guilty of the larceny of two automobiles, was today sentenced in the Superior Criminal Court by Judge Fosdick to the House of Correction for two and a half years. That sentence was originally imposed soon after the conviction of Namet, but was stayed to allow him to go to the Supreme Court on exceptions, which were overruled Oct. 10, 1927.

MEHREN TELLS HOW U. S. HOLDS PROSPERITY

American prosperity will continue, Vice-President Edward J. Mehren of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company of New York today told members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, as long as American research genius can develop new products, American advertising methods can maintain receptive markets and American executive skill increases the public's purchasing power.

"There are two ways of increasing purchasing power," he explained. "First, by reducing prices so that the present salary and wage dollar will buy more goods; secondly, by increasing the number of salary and wage dollars.

"We are using both methods in this country. Improvement of management, elimination of production wastes, simplification of variet. in all manner of products, standardization of materials and parts are but last but not least, research, are mechanisms we are applying and that lead to lower production costs, lower selling prices and constantly higher purchasing power of the dollar.

"In addition, we have increased the number of salary and wage dollars. More and more we are abandoning the theory of the 'living wage.' We believe in something more liberal, in what I call a 'security wage,' a wage that provides not merely a decent living but enough margin to own a home, educate a family and lay up savings against unemployment, sickness and old age.

"It is the responsibility of every American business executive to give generous support to cost reduction efforts and to industrial and scientific research.

"If we fail to discover new products at a rate sufficient to absorb surplus labor, we shall have to divide the fruits of industry among a larger number of workers; our purchasing power will decline and our standards of living drop to lower levels.

"Business men must above all support research in their own corporations, in trade associations and in the universities. If we can find new products at a sufficient rate we shall be able to absorb the surplus labor and continue our upward march. We shall be able to carry onward the American ideal."

GALE DRIVES NAVY'S FLEET FROM THE S4

By Associated Press

Diving operations on the sunken submarine S-4 off Provincetown were halted today by a northwest gale and rough seas, the Boston Navy Yard was informed. All of the salvage fleet, except the tug Wandank which remained on wreck watch, was moved into Provincetown harbor to escape the rough weather.

The message said that arrangements have been completed for applying high pressure air to the bow of the S-4 to clear out the external air charging line which appeared clogged from disuse.

$200,000 LOSS AT MANCHESTER

Manchester, Feb. 2.—Flames today destroyed the beautiful Summer residence of George Putnam of Boston street, Boston, formerly the country place of L. Randolph Cooledge, with a loss estimated at $200,000.

The big house was a mass of flames when Manchester firemen arrived. Help was called from Gloucester, but the thirty-five-room structure was burned to the ground.

Firebrands showered other buildings on the estate, but these were saved. The palatial homes of other Bostonians are nearby but they were too far away to be endangered.

The Putnam estate is in the Lobster Cove district, adjoining that of James J. Phelan, Boston banker. A policeman discovered the fire, but at that time the house was already doomed. The garage, situated near the house, was seriously threatened for a time.

Putnam is the son of Mrs. William Lowell Putnam of No. 49 Beacon street, Boston, and lives at No. 89 Beacon street. His Summer estate has been undergoing extensive changes.

F. C. BOWKER IS DEAD AT 50

Death early today took Frank C. Bowker, city editor of the Boston Transcript for the last decade. He died at his home, No. 1 Berkshire street, Dorchester.

Mr. Bowker was born in Dorchester on October 2, 1875, son of Benjamin C. Bowker and Louisa Bowker.

In 1896 he was graduated from English High School and soon afterward began newspaper work on the Dorchester Beacon. From there he advanced to the staff of the Transcript, covering the Dorchester district, and then came in town to cover police headquarters for the same paper.

He was for a number of years at headquarters, then was made assistant to former City Editor J. H. Benton, succeeding Mr. Benton when he died in 1918.

The editor is survived by his mother, who lives in Dorchester; his widow, Mrs. Mary V. Hall Bowker, and a brother, Roswell Gleason Bowker of Hardwick, Vt.

WOMAN ADJUDGED IN CONTEMPT OF COURT

Judge Louis Cox in the equity session of the Superior Court today adjudged Jennie Zimmerman of Chelsea in contempt for failing to obey a decree of the court of December 29, wherein she was ordered to pay Evelyn Richmond Levine, trustee of the Richmond Realty Trust, $500, and execute a mortgage of $14,000 to Mrs. Levine. The case arose from a transaction in which Mrs. Zimmerman agreed to purchase real estate on John street, Chelsea. Judge Cox allowed Mrs. Zimmerman until February 13, when further action will be taken.

Watertown Asks Hearing

The North Watertown Civic Association, through Wycliffe C. Marshall, president, today invited the members of the committees on Street Railways and Metropolitan Affairs to hold an evening hearing in Watertown on the bills affecting the future of the Boston Elevated Street Railway Company.

THEFT SUSPECT HELD IN WILD BATTLE

Through buildings where workers were just entering, through crowded streets, down into the subway and up to the surface again, a wild chase for a South Boston youth was staged by three police today.

The youth finally was captured in Summer street, but not until after he had waged vigorous battle with his three captors. A companion escaped early along the course.

The captured youth was held as a suspicious person, while investigation into report of a theft from a clothing firm in Kingston street was being made.

Officers McCarthy, Caulfield and Hoban went to Kingston and Bedford street buildings today to investigate an attempt by boys to steal leather.

They sighted the South Boston boy and a companion. Both immediately ran out of the building, into Bedford street, where one vanished. The other went underground.

He raced the length of the concourse connecting the Washington street tunnel with the Andrew square tube, leaped a turnstile and raced up the stairs into Summer street, where the still-pursuing police caught him.

FIGHT CHANGE OF NAME FOR AVON STREET

The board of street commissioners today took under advisement the petition of the Touraine Glove Company to change the name of Avon street to Temple place. Representatives of several stores including the Jordan Marsh Company, C. F. Hovey Company and Thayer, McNeil opposed the petition.

Myron E. Helpern, representing the petitioners, argued Avon street was a natural continuation of Temple Place, but that the general public was uninformed as to the location of Avon street.

The Touraine Glove Company moved to Avon street last December and reported to the commissioners that a canvass of 2,427 shoppers resulted in the finding that only 236 knew the exact location of Avon street.

H. F. McNiel of the Thayer McNeil Company opposed the petition. John A. Anderson of the Jordan Marsh Company said his company located at the corner of Washington and Avon streets seventy-seven years ago and never had difficulty in informing the public of the location of Avon street.

E. J. Singleton of Thresher Brothers, Temple Place, and Daniel E. Walsh, vice-president of the C.

Hegenberger, Hub's Ace, a Bum Waiter, Loses the Soup

Washington, Feb. 2 (A. P.).—Lieutenant Lester J. Maitland, pilot, with Lieutenant Albert F. Hegenberger of Boston flew from California to Hawaii, told the Women's Aeronautic Conference on National Defense today that he had prepared for the flight since 1919 and ate nothing but food during the entire trip.

"Hegenberger," he said "is the world's best navigator, but the world's worst waiter."

F. Hovey Company, also appeared against the petition.

Dundee Passes on; It's Clearway Street

The Board of Street Commissioners today voted to allow the changing Dundee street, Back Bay, to Clearway street on the petition of the Shawmut R. Estate Trust Company, which is allied with the Christian Science Church and the Christian Science Publishing Company.

C. A. Norwood, representing the Christian Science Church, pointed out that the church owns all the property on the street with the exception of one block. He said that the church had renovated all the apartments on the street and had worked an entire change in the class of people who lived there.

LINDY ARRIVES SAFELY AT PORTO RICO

San Juan, Porto Rico, Feb. 2 (A.P.).—Lindbergh landed at Escambron Field at 1:55 p. m. (12:55 Eastern Standard Time).

Colonel Lindbergh played in the air for twenty minutes over the city and then made his descent just five minutes before the time that he had said he would land.

St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Feb. 2.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh took off at 11:50 a. m. (local time) for San Juan, Porto Rico. He flew over St. Croix.

More than 1,000 people gathered at the flying field to bid the airman farewell. He waved to the crowd, who cheered lustily—then circled the field thrice and the town twice.

Lindbergh went away in beautiful weather, and looked happy. He said he had enjoyed his visit very much and appreciated all that had been done for him by the officials and residents of the islands.

One of the last acts of Colonel Lindbergh before leaving was to autograph a large portrait of himself, painted by a local artist, for presentation to the public library.

Lindbergh looked smiling and happy as he made his final preparations. He said he expected to reach St. Louis on Feb. 13.

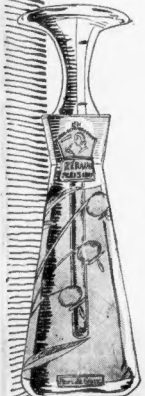
5000 bottles imported French perfumes $1.65

known as the "perfumes of royalty"—of the French house of Renaud, one of oldest of famous French perfumers

Perfumes that we usually sell in bulk at $5.50 to $12.50 an ounce. These cut glass bottles alone sell here at $1.50 and contain 1/6 of an ounce of perfume



Perhaps you may say "It doesn't sound reasonable that perfumes ordinarily selling for such high prices could sell for $1.65." Yet, strange as it may seem, this is so. Renaud usually bottles his perfumes with a different colored bottle for each odor. This quantity was made up specially for one of their customers, all in clear crystal bottles. This customer became financially embarrassed and was unable to take the order. And since the quantity was very large it was sold by the makers at this very great reduction in price.

These are 5 of the highest priced odors in Renaud's perfumes

Lubentia—(Flower of the Goddess of Pleasure)
Cour de Russe—(Court of Russia)
Jardin Celeste—(A royal bouquet)
Fleur de Grasse—(Grasse is the "capitol" of the flower fields)
Bocage—(Scent of secluded dells in cool shadows)

Having lost three in a row, the Tigers hope to emerge from their slump tonight at the Arena against the New Haven Eagles. Injuries and sickness have been responsible for the recent poor showing of Manager Eddie Powers' club out, as the boys are, with the possible exception of Reg Mackay, back in condition, prospects of a victory are good.

There is little doubt but that Coutu will play his cleanest hockey tonight. The wrath of the Boston Tigers coupled with that of Hub fans is not to be trifled with and this will be impressed on the Montreal's mind before the game.

Jack Conway First With News Tiger Had Retired

Tex Rickard's official announcement that Jack Dempsey has retired from the ring confirms Jack Conway's exclusive story to this effect which was published in the Boston Evening American early last November.

Mr. Boston later went on record as of the opinion that Dempsey was through as a boxer. He stated that defective eyesight was the reason for the Tiger's decision to retire.

Asked how he accepted the well known universe on Dempsey's true condition, Mr. Boston remarked:

"I was with Rickard the day Dempsey wired him he was through. It was such a knockout to Tex that he showed me the telegram. That's why I held ground despite all the reports that Dempsey was going to fight again."

Nation's Leading Golf Stars Compete for Purse of $6,500

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 2 (I.N.S.).—One hundred and fifteen of the nation's greatest professional golfers and an equal number of the State's leading amateurs started teeing off this morning on the Willow Springs course here in the amateur pro best ball event, the curtain raiser of the seventh annual Texas open golf tournament.

A raw wind swept across the links and lowering clouds threatened to open up and deluge the golfers as they moved to the first tee. Among those present were Al Espinosa, Chicago pro; Andrews of Princeton, Warren Anthony of Dallas, George Aliss of Arlington Heights, Mass., and John Perry, last national titleholder, here.

The field was bolstered for the $6,500 in the event by some of the greatest golfers in the Texas open. All of the Lone Star State's professional golfers were entered except Ed Dudley, who competed in the last event.

Among the amateurs entered for the 144 holes are Ed Updegraff, Chicago amateur champion; Perry Lee Rice, Texas champion, and second amateur in the last Texas open; Jesse Guilford, Dallas; Ed Wilson, Dallas; Ray Burke, Tulsa; Dewey Ten Eyck, Tampa; Tony Longo, Houston; Henry Cuod and Jack Burke.

Lomski Favorite Over Mike McTigue

New York, Feb. 2 (A.P.)—With a number of ring battles on the metropolitan boards this week, the spotlight turns on a pair of heavyweights tonight when Leo Lomski, Aberdeen (Wash.) sensation, and Mike McTigue, 200-pound Irishman, meet at Madison Square Garden.

Lomski, who scored a victory over Mike Tobin a year ago on a referee's decision after the bout had been declared a draw by the judges, is expected to be in the best condition of his career when he steps into the ring tonight. He has been training at Saranac Lake.

PASSING THE PUCK

By Bill Grimes

Although the Bruins' victory over the Americans was the best tonic that Manager Art Ross could have received, he is still a very sick man and as soon as Dr. Joseph Sortell feels that Ross is strong enough to travel, he will be sent to his home in Montreal. Win Green, the veteran trainer, will probably accompany Manager Ross to Canada.

all my life I have [illegible] so far they acted [illegible] rest in the things I am so popular with boys, con- [illegible] of companionship and understanding I do with boys.

"I knew a boy in high school whom I used to meet on my corner every evening. We went to the theatre or else for a walk, and discussed topics of mutual interest. One night my older brother met us and told him he didn't want him to be his sweetheart again.

"I have since seen him. He asked if I would meet him. But I said 'No,' as I didn't want a recurrence what had happened.

"Now every evening, as the hour approaches when I used to meet this boy, I become restless and nervous. I am not in love with him. It is just the sense of comradeship I miss."

Dear Troubled Girl, I believe your problem can be solved with the aid of a little [illegible] yourself and that dear public, of yours!

Have you explained to her just how you feel [illegible]

[illegible] as sweetly and frankly as you have written me? Or were you a bit bitter and antagonistic when you said some things to you on the subject, assuming in independent air or sullen silence.

I agree with you that a girl needs the companionship of boys as well as girls of her own age. But, of course, at sixteen, you are a young woman, not a youngster, and you cannot play about with boys in the old harum scarum way you loved [illegible]

ABOUT this time all that is left of Father's New Year's "bonus" is the BONE.

The time is not far off when a girl will have to promise a man a diamond wrist-watch and vow not to tell his mother, before he will permit her to kiss him.

When a woman keeps too tight a clutch on a man or the steering-wheel, it is a sign that she is not sure of her "control."

Unrequited love is the most [illegible] cent thing in a man's life. It [illegible] spires him to even more [illegible] and poetry to heroism and [illegible] ment. And, [illegible] it is the only love that he never forgets!

When the old-fashioned girl threatened to elope, her Father said, "Tut, tut!" and promptly locked [illegible] up. Nowadays, Father says "Tut tut!"—but he leaves the window open.

Now that the woman who brandished a rolling pin and the girl who lifted her skirt at sight of a mouse are passe, they have found the back-seat driver. When men want something to joke about, the Lord will always provide—a woman!

"Jerry" by ELENORE MEHERIN AUTHOR of "CHICKIE"

A Story of Mad Moonlight Kisses and a Wonderful Young Girl

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

Jerry King, good-looking and charming and 19, meets Saxon Rhodes, a young Boston architect, and falls in love with him at first sight.

Her fascinating mother, Marza, warns her that idealists like Rhodes make unsatisfactory husbands. Jerry sees him kissing Tess Willi, who has a great deal of money and is interested in him.

Heine Koss, an ardent suitor, makes love to Jerry in vain. Rhodes runs across her while she is sketching and shows admiration for her.

DIAZ PROMISES TO STAND BY U. S. TREATY

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR.

Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 2.—President Diaz repeated today his determination that the Nicaraguan Government and the Conservative party shall live up to the terms of the Tipitapa Agreement, authorizing free elections under American supervision.

He called a meeting for next Sunday of the Council of Notables, as the national committee of the Conservative party is designated here, at which he will ask for a repudiation of Chamorro's opposition to the Tipitapa Agreement. That meeting will show whether Diaz or Chamorro is the real boss of the party in power.

In the meantime, Diaz has recalled from Havana Cuadra Pasos, Minister of Foreign Affairs, to assist him in securing ratification by Congress of the Tipitapa Agreement.

WARN AMERICANS.

The Liberal leaders here today warned Americans to beware of misrepresentations from Mexico of the true condition of affairs here. Several Nicaraguans in Mexico City are said to be flooding the United States with false statements concerning the attitude of the Liberal leaders here toward the presence of American marines and the progress of American supervision at the next election.

General Moncada, president of the Liberal party, issued a statement by declaration that the presence of marines is absolutely essential to the holding of a fair election. He repudiated all the Nicaragua critics in Mexico of Americans and their assistance here.

The following are the salient facts about the conditions as they exist in this pathetic country today:

First, after two years of the worst civil war in history, their naturally beautiful, healthfully wretched and economically backward country of more than 600,000 Nicaraguans, scattered over an area about the size of Alabama, is beginning to realize the benefits of the last seven months of comparative peace. Crops are good, while customs and internal revenue are the best in the country's history.

SANDINO LOSING POWER.

Second: One corner of the Department of Nueva Segovia, near the Honduras border, comprising less than one-fiftieth of the total area of Nicaragua, is the only place in which there is any armed uprising against the native constabulary or the American marines. Gilberto Sandino still is on the warpath, but his warfare is daily dwindling.

Third: The attitude of the House of the Nicaraguan Congress are still crangling over the terms of the resolution in addition to the supervised in the Nicaraguan election law, which will authorize American supervision at the next election here to accord with the Nicaraguan organic law.

Fourth: Anti-American feeling, save in the corner country, almost unpopulated, where Sandino is holding, is conspicuous by its absence. Every evidence here is that both Conservatives and Liberals favor an American mediation as the only present hope for the future.

BOSTON AND HARVARD TO GREET ITALY'S ENVOY

Noble Giacomo DeMartino, Italian Ambassador to the United States, will arrive in Boston Saturday morning for a two days' stay. A big reception has been planned in his honor by a committee of prominent Italians and Italo-Americans, headed by Marquis A. Ferrucci di Ruffano. Italian consul in this city.

Noble DeMartino

His Excellency's visit will mark the first appearance in Boston of an Italian ambassador since Premier Mussolini came into power.

Noble DeMartino will arrive at the South Station at 7:30 Saturday morning. The program that day will include visits to Governor Fuller, Mayor Nichols and President Lowell at Harvard.

U. S. 'SOLDIER OF FORTUNE' TO MARRY FRENCH GIRL

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 2 (A.P.)—Alice Walbaum, formerly of France, now a naturalized American, will marry Captain Herman N. Archer of the Princeton artillery unit, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Adams Gibbons here next Saturday. Archer, "whose soldier of fortune career prompted Richard Harding Davis to make him the hero of his book, "Captain Macklin," fought in the Spanish-American War, Boxer Rebellion and World War, and in various South American revolutions. He was divorced by his wife, Mrs. Anna L. Archer, at Cleveland, O., last week. Mlle. Walbaum came to America after the World War with Dr. and Mrs. Gibbons, who is a teacher of French in Miss Beard's school, New York.

DEPUTY FIRE CHIEF DOLAN WILL RETIRE TOMORROW

Deputy Chief Joseph A. Dolan of the Boston fire department will retire tomorrow on a pension and another of the "old guard" which placed the Boston department in the forefront of fire protection in the country will have given up actual work.

For 46 years "Cosey" Joe Dolan has been considered one of the best firemen in the country. He was born in Boston in 1864 and joined the fire department in 1885. In 1898 he was made a lieutenant and in 1905 became a captain. He was made district chief in 1918 in Hyde Park. In February, 1924, he was made deputy chief of the department and was assigned to the third division with headquarters in Ladder 22, Washington st., Grove

BENEFIT BALL ON FEB. 10

F. S. Cummings J. E. Ford

Plans are being completed for the annual ball of the Francis S. Cummings Mutual Benefit Association, which will take place the night of February 10 at the Music Box, Huntington avenue.

Governor Fuller, Mayor Nichols, Police Commissioner Wilson and District Attorney Foley are among the invited guests.

Francis S. Cummings is trustee of the association; John Smith, president; John Ford, vice-president and chairman of the ball committee; Fred Jenkins, secretary, and Arthur Carey, treasurer. Miss Mary B. O'Brien is secretary of the ball committee, and Frank Hall and Joseph Higgins will be masters of ceremonies.

BRITAIN OPPOSES 8-HOUR CONVENTION

Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 2 (A.P.).—The convention adopted at the Washington labor conference of 1919 limiting the hours of workers to eight a day is impracticable in the view of England, which wants the convention revised.

The British governmental member of the governing board of the International Labor Bureau which met today says the board to understand England is unable to ratify the convention in its present form, and moved that it be revised at the conference to be held in Geneva in 1929. France ratified the document conditionally upon ratification by England and Germany. Neither country has yet ratified it.

BOY WINS RADIO LICENSE BACK AS HEALTH RETURNS

New York, Feb. 2.—His radio license suspended three months in order that he might recover the health that his ambition had impaired, Eric Palmer, 16, is back on the air. The Federal Radio Commission disciplined him by request of his father. He has slept and studied faithfully during his penance.

WILLIAM HAINES IN NEWSPAPER FILM NEXT

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS.

Los Angeles, Feb. 2.—William Haines as a newspaper reporter! Can't you see him, the perfect type of young Alec who stops at nothing to get his story. There is a laugh in the very thought.

The play in which William wathes a mean notebook and pencil is "Iron Mike," by Dale Van Every, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, from adaptation by Rudyard Kipling, is called it "He Learned About Women." Speaking of subtlety, you would never know it was a newspaper yarn.

If the title hadn't betrayed comedy tendencies everyone would know it is a comedy with Sam Wood directing. Comedies are Mr. Woods' middle name these days. His "Hhe Fair Co-Ed," starring Marion Davies, and "Latest Fashions from Paris," Norma Shearer's latest, to his credit, Mr. Woods seems to be moving right along at M. G. M.

Young Jackie Coogan is about to be swallowed up by the great wave of English production. His dad, Jackie senior, is leaving on Monday for Great Britain to discuss plans for Jackie junior's contract. Of course, Jackie won't make his picture until he is through school. He is now at the Urban Military Academy, and if all goes well he will sail early in June for the other side, to be starred in a series of Jackie Coogan specials.

I always feel when I print a rumor I should start in an apologetic strain, yet this is a rumor that has come to me from ninety-nine different sources.

Walter Wanger, I am reliably informed, will go abroad on a very important mission. Mr. Wanger for many years was to London what S. L. Rothafel is to New York and Sid Grauman is to Los Angeles. He was impressario of the largest theatre on the other side. Every American with a film mission consulted him.

They tell that Walter has some grand plans, and for that reason he will, in all likelihood, resign from Famous Players-Lasky. That means he will not come back to Hollywood.

Monta Bell walked right into a murder story. He no more than took off his hat, shook hands with the powers that be at Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer than he was told to get busy on "The Ordinary Trial," his next picture. That is surprising, in view of the fact that everything was to be done on the coast. It that the story is a valuable piece of literature and if I should print it the price would be higher than Lindy's aeroplane. I've got to keep faith with my pals.

FAMILY OF NINE ESCAPE BOMB; 2 MEN ARRESTED

Chicago, Feb. 2 (A.P.)—Two men have been arrested following the finding of a dynamite bomb under the home of William J. Byrne, head of the Byrne Bag Company. A dozen sticks probably saved the lives of Byrne, his wife, and their seven children, for the bomb contained a pound and a half of powder. Those arrested are Dr. Charles F. Bongiorno, osteopath, and James F. McCahill, a former employe of Byrne. Police learned of differences between McCahill and Byrne, over $18,000 McCahill believed due him as the result of a lawsuit.

INFLUX OF JOBLESS MEN STOPPED AT FLINT, MICH.

Flint, Mich., Feb. 2 (A.P.).—Officials today announced an embargo on unemployed men entering the city. Attracted by false reports of a surplus of jobs in automobile factories, they have been entering the city in caravans, according to police, and in most instances have become panhandlers and public charges. One bus, stopped on a road, carried 20 men from Missouri, whose total resources were less than $3.

$100,000 Fire at Resort

Stonington, Ct., Feb. 2 (A.P.)—Fire of unknown origin early this morning destroyed five cottages and a dance hall, Lord's Point, in Summer resort, at an estimated loss of close to $100,000. The flames, starting in Colins Hotel, a three-story wooden building, spread, likely to the adjoining cottages.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defence.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

A Lady Lectures Us

Boston, a lady lecturer has been lecturing us, is one of the worst cities in the country to which to send a thoughtful, serious play.

Producers, the lady says, will not send a serious play to Boston if they can help it. Anything light, flippant and not involving deep thought is welcome here, but the "real drama" has never proved popular.

One reason for this condition, if it exists, may be that our serious thinkers prefer the lecture-hall to the playhouse. Boston has always been a good town for the platform folk, even those who find fault with us.

What interested us most in this lady's lecture was her choice of an "important" drama and her reason for the selection.

This play, now being produced in New York, she regards as "one of the most IMPORTANT dramas in a decade." "It throws a searchlight," she says, "on one of the cancers of today, that NOXIOUS, POISONOUS THING CALLED SUCCESS."

This must be extremely highbrow, nothing for ordinary minds to wrestle with or worry about.

If success is noxious, that is to say poisonous, pestilential and pernicious, we suppose the thing to aim at must be failure.

If that is what the lady means the only "hit" the theatre is capable of must be what stage folk describe as a "flop."

So, a "hit" is a "flop," and a "flop" is a "hit," and bankruptcy means that you have won the victory and gained the prize.

Maine's Boys and Girls

Senator Hinckley Would Keep Them at Home

Frederick W. Hinckley of South Portland, who left school for the cotton mill at the age of 13, was graduated to a sawmill, began three years more of school at 18, read law in an attorney's office and at 22 was admitted to the bar, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Maine.

At 49, having been mayor of his city and for eight terms a member of the Legislature, Senator Hinckley wants to do something to keep the sons and daughters of Maine at home.

"The majority of our brightest boys and girls," he says, "leave for other States after Maine has spent millions of dollars on their education. This is a problem which must be solved."

South Portland's first citizen would solve it with "more industries and more payrolls." He is manufacturer as well as lawyer, is responsible for a payroll of dimensions.

"We are watching the spindles of our cotton mills being transferred to the south and those of our woolen mills indefinitely idle, because, as they say, we are too far from the raw product; yet we are shipping thousands of tons of pulp every year to the South and West, where it is being manufactured into rayon silk—rayon silk which is today used for practically every article of wearing apparel, as well as household furnishings, and which is bound during the next ten years to rival the great cotton and woolen industries of the world.

"No reason why every idle spindle in Maine should not be weaving rayon! No reason why in addition to this during the next five years 50,000 more men and women should not be given employment in additional mills constructed for this purpose."

The Senator is against the Fernald law, now a dozen years old or more, which forbids the shipment of Maine-made hydro-electric power beyond the borders of the State. It is "impractical" and narrowly provincial, "as if Pennsylvania should pass a law forbidding the shipment of her coal." But it has "served its purpose by making Governors."

This last doubtless will bring a quick reply from Governor Brewster, who believes in the Fernald law and is quick on the trigger. The Governor is a candidate this year for a United States Senate nomination. Doubtless there is a "Brewster man" among the gubernatorial aspirants, ready to test Mr. Hinckley's observation that the Fernald law is a Governor-maker.

Il Duce Seeks Amusement

This picture will interest Italian-Americans and other ALL-Americans.

It throws an interesting light on the character of Mussolini, Italy's ruler, shown in a lion's cage, amusing himself with his pet lion.

He used to have this lion playing about in his room when it was smaller. But it has now grown big enough to make it dangerous for ordinary mortals, so Mussolini visits it behind iron bars.

Of any other man you would say this was "posing"; that Mussolini was trying to show how brave he is.

There is no nonsense of that kind about Mussolini. Somebody shoots him, as has happened more than once, he says calmly, "I refuse to be assassinated," and goes about his business of the moment.

There was no braver soldier in the war than Mussolini, who fought in the Alps, was wounded, then went back to fight again.

He plays with his lion because it amuses him, and perhaps because a little danger is a pleasant sensation.

A strange, interesting man this ruler of a great people. Formerly a Socialist, he has abolished Socialism; formerly an extreme radical, he will not tolerate a word even of mild radicalism; once a passionate advocate of complete liberty, he now says that liberty is one of the unimportant, much exaggerated words.

When he was a child it was his amusement to frighten other children by making savage faces that startled them.

Now that he is a man, that same face, with its natural expression, frightens half of Europe, and deals on equal terms with the dominating League of Nations.

In childhood he worked in his father's blacksmith shop. Part of his work was blowing the bellows to keep the fire roaring, while his father, with big muscles, heated horseshoes or ploughshares ready for hammering.

MUSSOLINI VISITS HIS LION

He was not allowed to jump or show fear if sparks flew at him. "A sharp smack over the head," as Mussolini tells it, reminded him that a young Italian boy should not be frightened.

Mussolini learned his lesson. Nothing frightens him now, whether it be a young lion with sharp teeth, or the League of Nations with teeth longer and sharper.

While he lasts, HIS will must rule.

Italy hopes that he may last a LONG time, and wonders what will happen when he lasts NO LONGER.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

SIR OLIVER LODGE and Sir Conan Doyle believe in life after death. They think that the spirits of the dead are all about us, growing and developing just as we do, living even more actively than they did on earth. Both of these gentlemen produce much evidence to prove their contention—rappings, spirit writing, materialism, messages through mediums.

Mr. H. G. Wells says that these very "proofs" turn him against the theory.

"Do you believe any self-respecting ghost would send silly stuff like that back to earth?" says Mr. Wells.

Do I? I do indeed. When I think of some of the messages I've sent to God, I can believe anything of any ghost!

Recently the first voice leaped across the Atlantic. Think what a stupendous achievement that was! New York talking to London—communication with the dead would not have seemed any more miraculous than that a hundred years ago, New York talked to London. A new dimension for human life was established. Distance was shattered, doors were opened into infinity, time annihilated. That was the Greatest Moment in human history.

And what did we say when our Greatest Moment came? Did we say something beautiful and noble when will live for all ages? Did we bridge that tremendous gap with an immortal message? We did NOT.

We said—"WHADJA HAVE FOR BREAKFAST?"

Yet Mr. Wells won't believe in spirits because they send back silly messages!

Will we ever be spooks? I don't know. But it's a cinch that if we are we'll enter the next world no better or wiser than when we left this one.

If you're the kind of a human that enters and tee-hees through this life, you'll titter and tee-hee when you strike the next. If you're a grabber and a gobbler when you go to sleep you'll grab and gobble when you wake up. You may outgrow your tittering and gambling in time, but you won't do it in five seconds. Evolution never happens in five seconds.

WHY SHOULD FIVE SECONDS OF DEATH CHANGE YOU INTO AN ANGEL IF FIFTY YEARS OF LIFE HAVE HARDLY MADE A DENT IN YOUR CUSSEDNESS?

"But the life in Paradise is full of mysteries and wonders," some devout reader cries.

Yes, probably it is. But so is this life. And how do we treat them? The light above your desk is a mystery and a wonder. The tiniest grain of sand is as marvelous and inexhaustible as the whole universe. All honor and courage and love are miracles, in our selfish, brutal bodies.

VAST RESERVES IN UNITED STATES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE United States is a country of vast resources. Just about the time we are looking forward to the end of our resources another new field is opened before us.

The reclamation of the Columbia River Basin and the Mississippi Valley promises untold wealth in new crops to meet the increasing needs of the rapidly developing population.

We hear a great deal about the exhaustion of our fuel supply. Scientists put forth some alarming statements about the end of our resources in oil and coal.

But we are reckoning without the enormous, concealed resources of the West. In Wyoming the government geologists have been prospecting and they announce that in the Gillette field there are more than 14,000,000,000 tons of coal in workable seams.

This is almost as much coal as has been mined in this country up to date, a total of about 17,800,000,000 tons.

This territory is now being mined to some extent and small quantities of coal taken out for domestic use. The ranchers here get their own coal from the nearest outcrop, which is usually in bluffs along some stream.

All over these Gillette fields are the transcontinental railways and hardly any point within the region is more than sixty miles from a shipping point.

The railroads have been using this coal, which is of rather low rank and of a class often referred to as black lignite. It burns readily.

Much of it is owned by the government and can be developed under government lease. When the field now being exploited is exhausted there will be a great rush to this immense untapped coal resource.

Now when there is talk of our diminishing resources and increasing population it is reassuring to hear of this vast tract of potential fuel.

As a matter of fact, the sustenance of the human race depends upon man's brains more than upon any physical supplies.

Let the brain of man discover how to utilize the fish of the sea, and to extract the nutriment from the air about him and to mine the untapped resources of fuel in the earth beneath him and there is hardly a limit it our potential population.

Mark W. Burlingame, known to hundreds of men on newspapers and associated activities, has received an enviable letter from a Portland, Oregon, friend. The friend is William L. Finley, outstanding motion picture photographer of wild animals while they are wild.

Burlingame's friend writes he has photographed Rocky Mountain goats in the wild at fifty feet, big-horn sheep, beavers building a dam, antelope at a water hole and bears, mule deer and marmots.

The most striking thing the letter relates is how a little bunny and an antelope fawn were raised on a bottle.

At the Governor's reception a very pretty picture was created when Vanni Marcoux sang the French national anthem "Marseillaise." The distinguished singer upon rising suddenly saw all the lights dimmed and then extinguished while a spot light was focused on a French flag. The pretty scene, audience standing in the great darkened hall while Marcoux sang, and only the emblem illuminated, lasted only a few seconds, but will last long in the memory of those who witnessed it.

Tonight the Boston Canadian Club will hear an authority on psychology. "Psychology" is merely a scientific name for common sense in many matters. Dr. Frank D. Stanton, Milton resident, will be the lecturer. He will speak about the effect of climate and geography on individuality, taking for his examples the several big nationalities which make up the modern American. Dr. Stanton, besides being a practising physician, has taken up the study of psychology as a hobby. For several years he has been president of clubs organized for this study.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

THOUGH all the day the ceaseless rain came down
Upon the huddled dwellings of the town;
The wet roofs glistened, red and blue and green,
Like giant flowers through the rain-drops' sheen.
The town was but a garden, wet with dew,
A blooming garden, flaunting every hue;
More fresh and fair because of rain that came
To cleanse dull roofs to emerald and flame.
I pressed against my attic window-pane
And joyed in all this wonder wrought by rain.

Money Goes to Money Cosgrave's Good News All Around the World Visiting Iniquity

—By Arthur Brisbane—

RUSSIA IS AFRAID, wisely that Berlin and London will join to fight Bolshevism, financially and otherwise.

Russians will learn what a child might teach them, that money supports money, internationally, whereas the proletariat of one nation, to use Karl Marx's name for those that work for a living, does not support the proletariat of another country.

"Money goes to money," as the old French pedlar said in Nice, leaving his little fortune of ten thousand francs to Baron Rothschild, whom he had never seen. Money goes to money and sympathizes with money.

That's why it's strong.

William T. Cosgrave, President of the Irish Free State, telling this country of extraordinary work that Free Ireland has done to establish prosperity and rebuild industry, adds:

"Of the money we collect in taxes we spend 20 per cent. on education."

Development of water power in the River Shannon, which will take care of the whole Free State and leave a surplus for sale to Belfast, is a remarkable achievement, costing $25,000,000.

But the education of Irish children is more important than water power development, factories or anything else.

In Detroit yesterday Commander Byrd and Edsel Ford met and the reporters guessed it was a "discussion of Commander Byrd's flight to the South Pole."

It is believed that Byrd will make the flight in one of Henry Ford's three-engine, all-metal planes similar to that in which the Standard Oil of Indiana directors have been flying about the country for a year.

Byrd's flight to the North Pole, which Edsel Ford helped to finance, was made in a Fokker plane.

By the time Byrd flies back from the South Pole, Henry Ford may have completed his super-

Smouldering Ruins of Fall River as Seen From the Sky

Smoke curling up from still hot ruins, charred and roofless buildings of what once was the proud and prosperous business section of this busy New England mill city, was what the artist saw as he circled over the flame-scarred area today. Spire of City Hall is seen in the centre.

TROOPS GUARD FALL RIVER RUINS; 8,000 IDLE; 300 HURT

Fall River, Feb. 3.—With Acting Governor Frank G. Allen personally on the scene, State investigation of the disastrous conflagration that overnight destroyed the business center of this city began today, while 500 National Guardsmen and State police walked guard over the glistening ice-encrusted ruins.

The gaunt walls of 37 completely destroyed downtown buildings tell the story of the ravaging flames to thousands of spectators thronging from out of town to see the destruction.

More than 60 more buildings were damaged, and the total loss is estimated at from $7,000,000 to $25,000,000. Between 8,000 and 10,000 persons, according to Chamber of Commere estimates, are out of work as a result of the fire.

President Coolidge, through Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, has placed the resources of the Army and Navy at the disposal of this stricken city.

COSGRAVE AND BUTLER HISSED AT COLUMBIA

New York, Feb. 3.—William T. Cosgrave, head of the Irish Free State, while viewing the buildings of Columbia University under person escort of President Nicholas Murray Butler, was hissed by a small group of students today. As the party reached a balcony overlooking the gymnasium, hissing broke out and gave way to applause, which changed to even stronger hissing. Neither Mr. Cosgrave nor Dr. Butler seemed disturbed.

The presidential party was first received in the trustees' room, by members of the faculty, then passed through University Hall to the gymnasium, Butler and Cosgrave walking side by side. The tour continued through several buildings.

Leaving Columbia, the party was driven to President Grant's tomb on Riverside drive.

Asked today to pose for a picture with Cosgrave, Eamon De Valera said "No" emphatically.

This territory is now being mined to some extent and small quantities of coal taken out for domestic use. The ranchers here get their own coal from the nearest outcrop, which is usually in bluffs along some stream.

All over these Gillette fields are the transcontinental railways and hardly any point within the region is more than sixty miles from a shipping point.

The railroads have been using this coal, which is of rather low rank and of a class often referred to as black lignite. It burns readily.

Much of it is owned by the government and can be developed under government lease. When the field now being exploited is exhausted there will be a great rush to this immense untapped coal resource.

Now when there is talk of our diminishing resources and increasing population it is reassuring to hear of this vast tract of potential fuel.

As a matter of fact, the sustenance of the human race depends upon man's brains more than upon any physical supplies.

Let the brain of man discover how to utilize the fish of the sea, and to extract the nutriment from the air about him and to mine the untapped resources of fuel in the earth beneath him and there is hardly a limit it our potential population.

Boston DAY by DAY

HEARD and seen: that Elias Field Hand, Richard J. Lane is broad minded, sincere worker, has impartial judicial capacity of seeing both sides of question; Carl M. Spencer is an experienced business executive, good adviser, therefore, and pleasant; Earl Wiedner a good organist, and is heard at City Club organ recitals Thursday nights at 7:30 p. m.

A man has to be able to play something, bridge, golf, or an organ, these days to mix.

Mark W. Burlingame, known to hundreds of men on newspapers and associated activities, has received an enviable letter from a Portland, Oregon, friend. The friend is William L. Finley, outstanding motion picture photographer of wild animals while they are wild.

Burlingame's friend writes he has photographed Rocky Mountain goats in the wild at fifty feet, big-horn sheep, beavers building a dam, antelope at a water hole and bears, mule deer and marmots.

The most striking thing the letter relates is how a little nanny and an antelope fawn were raised on a bottle.

At the Governor's reception a very pretty picture was created when Vanni Marcoux sang the French national anthem "Marseillaise." The distinguished singer upon rising suddenly saw all the lights dimmed and then extinguished while a spot light was focused on a French flag. The pretty scene, audience standing in the great darkened hall while Marcoux sang, and only the emblem illuminated, lasted only a few seconds, but will last long in the memory of those who witnessed it.

Miss Christian Gallagher, Charlestown resident, and an employe of the adjutant-general's office at the State House, was recently honored by her fellow workers with the presentation of a chest of silver in anticipation of her coming marriage. The gift was given to Miss Gallagher by her associates at an informal party staged at the State House.

Tonight the Boston Canadian Club will hear an authority on psychology. "Psychology" is merely a scientific name for common sense in many matters. Dr. Frank D. Stanton, Milton resident, will be the lecturer. He will speak about the effect of climate and geography on nationality, taking for his examples the several big nationalities which make up the modern American. Dr. Stanton, besides being a practising physician, has taken up the study of psychology as a hobby. For several years he has been president of clubs organized for this study.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

THOUGH all the day the ceaseless rain came down
Upon the huddled dwellings of the town;
The wet roofs glistened, red and blue and green,
Like giant flowers through the rain-drops' sheen.
The town was but a garden, wet with dew,
A blooming garden, flaunting every hue;
More fresh and fair because of rain that came
To cleanse dull roofs to emerald and flame.
I pressed against my attic window-pane
And joyed in all this wonder wrought by rain.

He was not allowed to jump or show fear if sparks flew at him. "A sharp smack over the head," as Mussolini tells it, reminded him that a young Italian boy should not be frightened.

Mussolini learned his lesson. Nothing frightens him now, whether it be a young lion with sharp teeth, or the League of Nations with teeth longer and sharper.

While he lasts, HIS will must rule.

Italy hopes that he may last a LONG time, and wonders what will happen when he lasts NO LONGER.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

SIR OLIVER LODGE and Sir Conan Doyle believe in life after death. They think that the spirits of the dead are all about us, growing and developing just as we do, living even more actively than they did on earth. Both of these gentlemen produce much evidence to prove their contention—rapping, spirit writing, materialism, messages through mediums.

Mr. H. G. Wells says that these very "proofs" turn him against the theory.

"Do you believe any self-respecting ghost would send silly stuff like that back to earth?" says Mr. Wells.

Do I? I do indeed. When I think of some of the messages I've sent to God, I can believe anything of any ghost!

Recently the first voice leaped across the Atlantic. Think what a stupendous achievement that was! New York talking to London—communication with the dead would not have seemed any more miraculous than that a hundred years ago. New York talked to London. A new dimension for human life was established. Distance was shattered, doors were opened into infinity, time annihilated. That was the Greatest Moment in human history.

And what did we say when our Greatest Moment came? Did we say something beautiful and noble which will live for all ages? Did we bridge that tremendous gap with an immortal message? We did NOT.

We said—"WHAIJA HAVE FOR BREAKFAST?"

Yet Mr. Wells won't believe in spirits because they send back silly messages!

Will we ever be spooks? I don't know. But it's a cinch that if we are we'll enter the next world no better or wiser than when we left this one.

If you're the kind of a human that titters and tee-hees through this life you'll titter and tee-hee when you strike the next. If you're a grabber and a gobbler when you go to sleep you'll grab and gobble when you wake up. You may outgrow your tittering and gobbling in time, but you won't do it in five seconds. Evolution never happens in five seconds.

WHY SHOULD FIVE SECONDS OF DEATH CHANGE YOU INTO AN ANGEL IF FIFTY YEARS OF LIFE HAVE HARDLY MADE A DENT IN YOUR CUSSEDNESS?

"But the life in Paradise is full of mysteries and wonders," some devout reader cries.

Yes, probably it is. But so is this life. And how do we treat them? The light above your desk is a mystery and a wonder. The tiniest grain of sand is as marvelous and inexplicable as the whole universe. All honor and courage and love are miracles, in our selfish, brutal bodies.
